EXPRESSES HIS APPRECIATION

Coolidge Pleased With Henry Ford's Announcement.

SENDS MESSAGE TO DETROIT

Democratic Members of Senate Unite in Declaring That Ford's Act of Self-Elimination In Favor of the President Would "Amount to Nothing"—Third Party Boosters Claim West Won't Support Coolidge.

Washington, Dec. 20.—The white house was stirred up by Henry Ford's announcement that he has no intention of being a candidate against President Coolidge.

Ford's act of self-elimination was looked upon by everybody connected with the administration as a bit of extremely good news. The president was prompt in taking cognizance of it. Without waiting for an official confirmation of press dispatches containing Ford's notice of withdrawal, the president sent him a telegram of appreciation.

Supporters of the president in congress also were disposed to consider Ford's announcement as sure to be an asset of great value to Coolidge's candidacy. Democratic senators united, however, in declaring that it would "amount to nothing."

Senator Hiram Johnson, Coolidge's only avowed opponent, said it was not unexpected, as it has been known in Washington for a long time that Ford would be for Coolidge. Senator Lodge, Republican leader and also a Coolidge supporter, said it showed "how the tide is turning."

Senator Brandegee declared that it revealed Coolidge as "an all around, adaptable kind of man," adding that he never believed Ford could have been elected on a third party ticket, although his candidacy would have imperiled Republicans.

Senator King, Democrat, expressed the opinion that Ford had taken this step "to punish the Democrats for refusing to regard his candidacy seriously," adding that "Ford was piqued because he could not get either the Republican or Democratic nomination, and his action will not affect 10,000 votes either way."

Henry Ford in his statement said: "I would not consent to run on any ticket against Mr. Coolidge. The country feels perfectly safe with Mr. Coolidge, and there ought not to be any disturbance arising from a presidential contest. I think the people all feel that Mr. Coolidge means to do right. And when a man means to do right, it is usually quite easy for him to find the way."

AGAINST COOLIDGE

Third Party Men Say They Will Disregard Ford's Advice.

Detroit, Dec. 20.—Roy M. Harrop of Omaha, president of the national Ford club, which was organized at Detroit last week, asserted the third party men will hold their convention in some western city next month and nominate Ford, despite the automobile magnate's wishes. If Ford declines, some one else will be nominated.

"Henry Ford can never influence the farmers of the west to support Coolidge," Harrop said. "Coolidge 'broke his shovel' with the farmers when he told them in his annual message they would have to work out their own salvation. We will work out our own salvation, but we won't do it with Calvin Coolidge as president."

Rev. William A. Dawes, president of the Ford-for-President club, said: "Disregarding the different reasons assigned for Henry Ford deciding to back Calvin Coolidge for re-election, there is a 'higher and loftier' reason for his getting out of the race—that reason is Mrs. Henry Ford. She was opposed from the first to her husband entering the political arena."

Woman Acquitted.

Chicago, Dec. 20.—A criminal court jury here found Mrs. Lucille Kavanaugh not guilty of murdering her husband, Patrick H. Kavanaugh, prominent Chicago club man. The jury deliberated 10 minutes. Kavanaugh was shot last summer, while struggling with his wife for possession of a pistol.

Six Bodies Recovered.

Houston, Tex., Dec. 20.—Five persons are still missing following the fire which destroyed the Capitol hotel here. That number registered at the hotel have been unaccounted for since the fire. Six bodies have been recovered.

HUGHES' CHARGE DENIED

Negotiations For American Recognition of Russia Ended For Present.

Moscow, Dec. 20.—Secretary Hughes' statement with regard to American recognition of the soviet Russian republic ended, for the present, all possibility of negotiations to that end, Foreign Minister Tchitcherin said. "A Russian-American agreement would be a great step toward settlement of world conditions, but Mr. Hughes is still using his influence against it," said Tchitcherin. "Mr. Hughes' demands that Moscow must cease to be a center of propaganda, but New York is a center of propaganda also. The soviet government never gave and never will give any support to any revolutionary parties in America. The principle of our relations with America is mutual non-interference in internal affairs," he said.

WOULD HOLD OIL FIELD AT ALL COSTS

Calles Hopes to Muster an Army of 5,000 Men.

Mexico City, Dec. 20.—The Mexican war office denies reports that "fierce fighting has been going on for two days, with large casualties, at San Marcos."

The war office reiterates that San Marcos was evacuated by the rebels hotly pursued by federal cavalry. Some small field equipment was taken and a few men.

General Plutarco Elias Calles, who withdrew his presidential candidacy to go into the field with the Obregon troops, is at present in the vicinity of Tampico, where he hopes to muster an army of at least 5,000 to hold the famous oil fields at all costs.

The entire membership of the Mexican federal army when the revolution broke out was 42,000 in all branches. According to reports, more than 15,000 of that number have swung over to the rebel banners. Feeling this loss severely, the Obregon government is recruiting new forces.

The first real battle of the revolution is now scheduled to be staged in the state of Jalisco, where General Amaro, one of the few military leaders remaining loyal to the Obregon regime, is awaiting the oncoming forces of General Angel Flores from the west, and at the same time holding at bay the rebels under General Enrique Estrada, who recently took to the hills. The Estrada troops are thus cut off from all communication with the rebels under General Sanchez, who is in possession of the city and port of Vera Cruz, where the supporters of De la Huerta have set up a provisional government.

World's Biggest Submarine.

Berlin, Dec. 20.—The biggest and most powerful submarine yet devised has been designed by the famous German naval architect, Professor Oswald Flamm. The professor claims that his boat, with a tonnage of 7,000, has a radius of 23,000 miles. It is 103 feet long with a 49-foot beam, and is completely stable when submerged. The decks and sides and the conning tower are protected by steel armor five inches thick without producing the slightest danger of list.

CHARGES CAUSE AN UPROAR

Postoffice Appointments Sold, Senators Allege.

SOUTHERN STATES INVOLVED

Charges Indignantly Denied by Republican Defenders of the Administration, Who Demand That Proofs Be Submitted to the Senate—Allegations Made by Members From the South.

Washington, Dec. 20.—Sensational charges that postoffice appointments have been sold to the highest bidder by persons representing themselves as agents of the administration caused an uproar in an executive session of the senate.

The charges, made by senators from southern states, who declared "upon their honor" that nominations now before the senate for confirmation had been paid for, were indignantly denied by Republican defenders of the administration.

Those making the charges were challenged by Republican leaders to submit their proofs to the senate. It was stated that such proofs would be forthcoming. As a result, all nominations from the southern states were laid aside after a three-hour wrangle, in which partisan feeling was at a high pitch. Nominations from many other states were confirmed.

Specifically the charges were directed against recent appointments sent from the white house to postmasterships in South Carolina and Virginia. When these nominations were reached in the executive session a senator from one of the southern states addressed his colleagues with the direct announcement that "practically every one of the postoffice appointments in the southern states was sold." He was followed by another southern senator, who charged that nominations on the Virginia list were likewise bartered and paid for.

Other senators took up the charges, with the result that what was intended by Republican leaders to be a perfunctory session to confirm appointments was quickly transformed into a place of pandemonium, as southern senators repeated their charges and Republicans angrily denied them.

This is not the first time that South Carolina appointments have figured in charges of the use of money by persons supposed to have influence with the appointing power. At the last session Senator Dial of that state blocked confirmation of the nomination of Joseph W. Tolbert to be United States marshal, upon the charge that federal positions in South Carolina had been sold.

MORE BALLOTS TAKEN

Senate Suspends Voting Until After the Holiday Recess.

Washington, Dec. 20.—Two more ballots were taken in the senate for chairman of the interstate commerce committee, but without result. Voting was then suspended until the senate reconvenes on Thursday, Jan. 3, after the holiday recess. Senator Smith, Democrat, led on each of the ballots, with 36 votes each time; Cummins got 32 on the first and 34 on the second, while Couzens got 13 each time.

Resentment of Democratic senators over the failure of the Republican majority to force an election of chairman of the commerce committee manifested itself after these ballots were taken. Senator Reed of Missouri started it by declaring the performance was "child's play to the last degree." He contended that the chairmanship was unimportant.

Senator Wheeler (Dem., Mont.) demanded to know why, if the chairmanship amounted to nothing, the senate was unwilling to give it to LaFollette, "who is rightfully entitled to it," or to a progressive like Couzens or Howell, or even to Smith.

Miners' Wage Scale.

Washington, Dec. 20.—Secretary of Labor Davis has within the last few days conferred with representatives of the bituminous operators and the miners. Each side is getting ready for the conference, which will follow the convention of the United Mine Workers in Indianapolis on Jan. 22. The government authorities appear to be of the impression that if the operators offer to continue the present wage scale there will be no difficulty about reaching an agreement. The miners' responsible leaders, it is understood, have about decided not to demand an increase in the present wage scale. On the other hand they will, it is asserted, take a firm stand against any decrease in wages.

DOINGS IN OHIO

Identified as Bank Robber.

Columbus, Dec. 20.—George "Red" McGahan was positively identified by President Otto Willard of the Grove City bank at Grove City, this county, as one of the bandits who, on Dec. 3, 1920, held up employees of that bank and escaped with a total of $15,800. McGahan was bound over to the grand jury. He was captured in Marietta, O., Tuesday, and is said to be wanted in other cities.

Johnson's Campaign Opening.

Cleveland, Dec. 20.—Senator Hiram Johnson of California will open his campaign in Ohio for the Republican presidential nomination with a mass meeting here Jan. 3, to be followed immediately by a conference of Johnson supporters from all parts of Ohio. This announcement was made by Frank Hitchcock, Johnson's campaign manager.

Gallipolis, O., Dec. 20.—Mrs. Norah Scarberry, 30, wife of a prominent Gallia county farmer, was burned to death at her home near this city when her clothing became ignited from an open grate. Her husband and children found her a human torch. Their residence was burned to the ground.

Woman Motorist Jailed.

Canton, O., Dec. 20.—A woman motorist was sentenced to serve 10 days in the Stark county workhouse and pay a fine of $50 after she had been convicted of driving an automobile while intoxicated. The woman, Mrs. Verna Pontius, 30, was sentenced by Police Judge J. A. Bowman.

TAX BILL GIVEN PRECEDENCE

Bonus Legislation to Be Considered at Later Date.

PARTY POLICY MAY BE ADOPTED

Republican Members of House to Hold Caucus With Regard to the Bonus, in View of the Administration's Stand Against It—Ways and Means Committee Takes Up the Mellon Tax Reduction Bill.

Washington, Dec. 20.—The house ways and means committee decided after a sharp fight to proceed with consideration of the administrative features of the Mellon tax reduction bill.

After this part of its work is completed, which is expected to take until the middle of January, the committee will take up "the question of the disposition" of the soldier bonus legislation. In the meantime Republican members of the house are expected to hold a caucus to adopt a party policy with regard to the bonus. The committee desires caucus legislation because the strong stand the administration takes against the soldier bill makes it a delicate party matter.

The decision to put the administrative features of the tax measure ahead of the bonus was announced officially by Chairman Green. After this plan of procedure the committee immediately took up the tax bill. The committee will continue daily sessions until Saturday, when adjournment will be taken over the Christmas holidays. Chairman Green will propose the appointment of a subcommittee to make during the holidays a survey of the remainder of the administrative features which have not been completed by Saturday.

Friends of the soldier bonus made strong efforts to have that measure given precedence over the tax bill. Representative Frear, progressive of Wisconsin, made a formal motion that the bonus be acted upon at once. The motion lost, 15 to 8.

By similar ballots, motions by Representatives Oldfield of Arkansas, Carver of New York and Dickinson of Missouri, Democrats, providing that the bonus should be acted upon not later than Jan. 4, Jan. 10, Jan. 15 and Feb. 10, were rejected. The committee also voted down a suggestion that the administrative sections of the tax bill and the bonus be considered concurrently. The motion to take up the tax bill first, which prevailed, was offered by Representative Hawley (Rep., Ore.).

INQUIRY SOUGHT

Bucketshop Bankruptcy Proceedings Rouses Congressman.

Washington, Dec. 20.—The congressional spotlight was turned on the New York bucketshop ring when Representative Schall, the blind congressman from Minnesota, introduced a resolution for an investigation of the Jones & Baker bucketshop bankruptcy proceedings.

The Minnesota representative's action was prompted by information that has reached him of the wholesale fleecing of investors throughout the country, and particularly in the middle west, through the operations of the bucketsters and their subsequent attempt to cover up through the bankruptcy court. The representative had obtained a list of Minnesota included among the Jones & Baker clients. It is primarily for their protection and at the same time for the protection of the public generally that he is demanding a congressional probe.

Wet Bills in Senate.

Washington, Dec. 20.—Two bills to revise the Volstead act were introduced in the senate by Senator Edge, Republican of New Jersey. The first would raise the permissible alcoholic content of beverages from one-half of 1 per cent to 3 per cent. The second would relieve restrictions against the issuance of liquor prescriptions by physicians.

Gives Birth to Quadruplets.

London, Dec. 20.—Statisticians were astounded at the announcement that Mrs. Owen, wife of a Llanfairfechan baker, had given birth to quadruplets, three girls and a boy. This is the third time within a month that such an event has been recorded, once previously in England and once in the United States.

HERESY TRIALS UNLIKELY

Episcopal Bishops Would Avoid Forcing the Issue, It Is Said.

New York, Dec. 20.—With the modernists still militant, the belief has become prevalent here that the bishops of the Protestant Episcopal church will do anything reasonable to avoid forcing an issue of heresy either in the case of Dr. Leighton Parks of St. Bartholomew's church or Rev. Lee W. Heaton of Fort Worth, Tex.

Rev. Dr. William M. Gilbert, rector of St. Paul's church in Yonkers and a close friend of Bishop Manning, said: "Dr. Parks did not deny the virgin birth, although he clearly indicated that he did not believe in it. What Dr. Parks did do was discuss why some persons believed it and why others did not, and then he defended the disbelievers." Dr. Gilbert then went on to point out that Bishop Manning had already established a precedent in his treatment of Dr. Percy Stickney Grant's case.

Dr. Ernest M. Stires, rector of St. Thomas' church, also said in reference to the Rev. Mr. Heaton that he did not believe the Texas clergyman would be brought to trial.

Discovers New Poison Gas.

London, Dec. 20.—F. N. Pickett, who has just completed the breaking up of 500,000 tons of ammunition in the British war area in France, announces the discovery of a new devastating poison gas. He says that it is a lethal gas, with the slaying property of mustard gas, which is effective for several days. He has declined to submit it to the war office until he discovers an antidote.

JUNKERS BUMPED

Schacht Is Appointed President of the Reichsbank.

Berlin, Dec. 20.—The appointment of Hjalmar Schacht, present commissioner of currency, as president of the reichsbank, which was practically assured through his formal nomination before the German senate, marks a big setback to the plans of the junkers and nationalists to impose a financial dictatorship on the government. The candidate of nationalists was Karl Helfferich, famous war-time finance minister and called "father of the inflation policy," from which Germany is now trying to extricate itself. Helfferich proposed a directorium for the reichsbank, but the senate rejected the plan. Schacht, who was president of the Darmstadter national bank, is an authority on currency questions and is a Democrat.

Lost Half Million.

Chicago, Dec. 20.—Ten years of association with Leo Koretz, missing promoter of the Panama "oil bubble," cost Henry A. Kline nearly half a million dollars, he testified at a bankruptcy hearing against the missing man. Kline was one of a committee of six sent to Panama by Koretz to investigate his supposed oil land holdings and told by him to spend their own money freely as they would be reimbursed on their return. They found only alligator swamps and no record that Koretz ever owned anything there, they reported on their return home.

RAMSHACKLE

By FLORENCE MELLISH

(©, 1923, Western Newspaper Union.)

I WAS beginning to be sorry that I had consented to become one of Miss Bankhead's corps of welfare workers in South Wingate.

"Your work will be chiefly among the boys," she had said, "and in line of uplift."

Well, I started a boys' club. I rented a comfortable basement room opening on Battery street. I made the room homelike with Turkey red curtains and bright pictures. There were tables for games; one of my married brothers gave me a phonograph that he was tired of having about the house, and I filled a bookcase with attractive books.

But the boys would only come once or twice, and then they spent their time scuffling and upsetting the tables. They handled the books roughly, crossing out the Olive J. Ramsdell. I had written on the fly leaves in a clear, firm hand and scrawling "Ramshackle" underneath.

But I knew the way to a man's heart, and the boy is father to the man. I invited the boys to a spread in the clubroom. With infinite pains I made sandwiches of six kinds.

"Aw! chuck the bread and butter. We want some cake, that kind with the yellow frosting. Pass the cake, Ramshackle."

"Sandwiches come first," I answered, firmly. "Then we'll be ready for cake." "Aw! we're ready now," cried one.

Then there was an uproar. They began pelting one another with the sandwiches and I got a smart blow on my left ear. I was not quite sure that Tom Durgin aimed the missile at me, but I knew very well that he was glad he hit me.

As soon the boys were out of ammunition they raided the cake table. They snatched all the cakes, overturning the lemonade pitcher. Some one turned off the lights and they all rushed whooping for the door.

"Good-by, Ramshackle!" they were shouting as the last one shut the door with a bang. I turned on the lights and scrubbed my ear and stiffened myself. All my brothers had called me homely. They had criticised the size of my ears and the shape of my nose, but not one of them had ever said I had a weak chin.

"Well," I said, "I'll let in some fresh air before I clean up this mess."

I turned the knob, but the door was fast. Those boys had taken the key and locked me in. I was a prisoner and probably for the night. Should I attract the attention of some passer-by by pounding on the window pane? Not for money. I knew that Terry and Tom and others of the crowd would be watching somewhere, and I had no desire to make them happy in that way.

Back of the club room there was a small place used for storage. I had not wished the boys to forage there, and the key was in my pocket. I went in and investigated. In one corner there was a rickety ladder leading to a loft. I knew there was a laundry above that opened on Main street. If I could manage to get up that ladder and into that laundry before everybody was gone, I would walk out serenely by that Main street door.

I gained the loft and, brushing off the cobwebs as well as I could with my handkerchief, I grouped successfully for the laundry door. The manager was still there.

"Excuse me," I said as nonchalantly as I could, considering that I was still gasping for breath and there were several cobwebs left. "I've lost my key. Will you permit me to go out by your door?"

"Certainly," he answered.

You may be sure I took pains to let the boys see me walking in a matter of course way about the adjacent streets, and I had the satisfaction of meeting seven of them. To my easy, friendly "Good evening, boys. It's a great night to be out," one of them answered, "That's all right, Miss Ramsdell."

Miss Ramsdell! My spirits rose. And I want to say right here that not one of those boys ever called me Ramshackle again.

I had a wakeful night trying to invent some new scheme for the uplift of my charges. In the morning the ring-leader was at the banquet hall before me armed with a broom.

"I'm going to help you clean up," he announced.

"That's right good of you, Terry." "Say," he said, leaning on his broom, "some of these fellers got pretty fresh last night."

I did not remind Terry that he had been the chief in the barbarities, but answered easily, "They're rather young. Perhaps they haven't learned table manners yet."

"That's it. They're an igrynnut lot. But I'll learn 'em, and when we have another spread they'll behave."

Another spread! I shivered at the thought. But we had another and the boys did behave. Don't imagine it was all smooth seas after that. Still, with Terry's efficient backing, I soon had a thriving boys' club, and every boy was my staunch friend.

"Say," Terry confided in me once, when we were working together, "that night I saw you walking up Main street after our spread, Tom Durgin was along and he says: 'Why, there's Ramshackle.' I says to him, 'No, 'tain't neither. That's Miss Ramsdell.'"

Was Sure of It.

Diner—I haven't eaten much better steaks than this one.

Special Light to Test Colors.
An electric color-testing instrument is designed for textiles, wall papers, coloring materials, etc., and with a special arc light applies the fading power of the sun for 20 hours. Forty samples may be tested at once, each being partly covered, so that the faded colors can be directly compared with the originals.

Needles of Ancient Days.
The needles that have come down to us from ancient Egypt are very coarse, but it is certain that finer needles must have been made to make the delicate embroidery produced by those people. Judging by the descriptions of embroidery in Homer, the Greeks also must have had very fine needles.

Genius.
The book reviewer of Everybody's Magazine drops, somewhat unaccountably, into these rhapsodical reflections on genius: "It is the queerest thing in the world, the most unexplainable. It burns now in the mind of a tax-collector's son in ancient Rome, now in a tent-maker of Persia, now in a livery keeper's son in London, now in a mixer of pills in a dreary Norwegian town. Like the wind, it bloweth whither it listeth." It is a fire that may not be quenched, either by failure or success. And whether we know it or not, its rays light the paths of all of us."

Self-Sacrificing Mamma.
There is a little boy in our neighborhood whose father has been dead for several years. Often we speak of him in a pitying manner on account of his loss. Yesterday my youngest rushed into the house exclaiming: "Have you heard the news? Jamie's mamma has gone and married a papa for him."—Chicago Tribune.

Colors Being Used in Evening Frocks

Orchid With Yellow Chic Novelty Feature Now in Forefront.

We do not think of practical values when we select the evening wardrobe, observes a fashion writer. That is why, perhaps, modistes are relegating their taffetas, satins and crepe knits to the rear of their shops and filling the windows with those elusive affairs which seem to be cloudy associations of ribbon, lace and the sheerest materials.

Bouffant effects add to this appearance. The opaque quality of ruffled material merely emphasizes the soft transparency of the single fold which forms the frock itself. We may combine our trimmings of ruffled ribbon, fluted lace, plaited self-material, or any of the numerous bits which designers have accomplished so cleverly this season. But we should keep in mind the fact that daintiness has its widest appeal in evening frocks.

Embroidered figures on a silk background are to be found among the collection of pretty frocks for the younger girl. Unusual color combinations have been achieved. One of the novelty effects, which is finding considerable popularity just now, is the use of orchid with yellow.

The yellow is used in an underslip of fine georgette and lace, while the orchid is placed in slender panels over the yellow foundation.

Lace has not stepped from the limelight, as we might have thought earlier. It was used in such abundance on the frocks for afternoon wear that we scarcely expected to see its popularity increase as the days advanced. Perhaps because the vogue for dyed lace came to the rescue, the vivid and unusual colorings in which the lace was offered gave the fad its new lease on life.

However, we are finding it made up into the most attractive dance frocks. Almond green lace, with an apricot georgette girdle, proves a fascinating combination. Melon pink, touched artfully with rosettes of old blue chiffon or gray, lighted with the iridescence of silver, is being seen at the smart dancers.

White stormed the sports world and was accepted. For the golf links, the country club or the shore we gave it first place. But we are rather surprised to see evidences of its popularity in the evening frocks when color is being used so widely.

An exquisite dance frock of white chiffon was the center of attraction in a room that fairly bloomed with the color effects of other gowns. Of particular simplicity were the lines of this white frock, showing infinite skirts of chiffon, each dropping its pointed hemline a little below the other.

Straight Lines, With Flare From Knee Down

This type of gown is popular for afternoon wear. It is constructed of black satin, relieved by a touch of brilliantly colored embroidery.

Long Shoulder Lines Displayed in New Furs

In the fur fashions of the winter is reflected the tendency to exploit the same long shoulder line so apparent in costumes of other materials. Even when much material is used and there is perhaps a cleverly inserted godet plait in front or at the side, or when the attached piece at the bottom of coat or wrap is unmistakably circular, the effect is always of extreme slimness, an effect accentuated by the close little helmet or cloche hat which has been carried over from the modes of summer and still remains well in the lead of millinery fashions.

A Neat Closing.

A torn pocket hole looks most untidy and can quite well be prevented in the following way: Sew a hook and eye at the very bottom of it on the wrong side, then hook it together and pinch the hook down tight. This keeps the pocket hole quite neat, and it is almost impossible to tear it.

What Courtesy Overlooks.

One way to make sure that you maintain amiable relations with your immediate neighbors is not to permit yourself to take advantage of their close proximity to you. There are always little things that you can learn about your neighbors that it is the part of courtesy to overlook.

When to Smile.

As long as things go well with some folks, they are chipper as a basket of chips; but the minute they feel a pin prick of hard luck, their faces are as long as a hammer handle. Men with the real stuff in them smile the biggest when the tug at their hearts is hardest.

HOPPE WINS TITLE

Cochran, California Billiard Star, Makes Strong Finish.

Chicago, Dec. 20.—Willie Hoppe won the world's title at 18.2 baiking billiards in the play-off with Welker Cochran, California star. The play was for 1,500 points, in blocks of 500. Cochran scored 1,161 against Hoppe's 1,500. The Californian, in a spurt of sensational billiards, cut down the champion's lead in big chunks in the late stages of the play. Cochran amassed a total of 725 points against Hoppe's 500 in last night's block. Hoppe's average runs were 44-43 and Cochran's 34-34. Hoppe's third turn was the most profitable of the match for him. He made 206 and finally missed on a twice across the table shot on the top rail.

TOOL HOUSE

To be Built by City If State Joins in Constructing Wall.

The city council met in regular session Wednesday evening, December 19, with President Felix R. Caldwell, presiding and all members present.

Mr. Jeffries, as chairman of the committee on department of public service reported that the committee has investigated the matter of the surface drainage on Huston street between Court and Pickaway streets, and learn that the sewer and catch basins at the northeast corner of Court and Huston streets were constructed by the Norfolk and Western Railway company and that this committee finds now that the same are not large enough to take care of the water at this point and recommended that the railway company be compelled to correct this trouble. On motion of Mr. Hedges this report was accepted.

Mr. Jeffries, as chairman of the committee consisting of all the members of council to whom had been referred the matter of constructing a fire wall between the proposed city tool house in the rear of the fire department building and the garage by the State of Ohio in the rear of the armory, made the following report:

"That the firm of Stribling & Lum has submitted a pencil drawing of the tool house at an estimated cost of $4250. This does not include any of the materials on the ground nor in the present building. The State of Ohio now has under consideration the building of a partnership wall on the east side of said proposed tool house, so that this wall and the salvage from the old building will reduce the cost of the new tool house in the sum of $1000.

"Your committee therefore recommends that the tool house be constructed according to the pencil drawing providing the State of Ohio will join with the city in the construction of the dividing wall. On motion of Mr. Barnes this report was accepted.

George M. Fitzpatrick, mayor-elect, submitted a bond in the sum of $1000 with himself as principal and George H. Pontius, A. M. Wiegand and Charles F. Weaver, as sureties and on motion this bond was approved.

PLANT ISLANDS IN FLORIDA

Increase in Price of Land Along the West Coast Responsible for Unique Business.

For some time island planting as an industry has been practiced in Florida, where island homes are much sought. The increase in the price of land along the west coast led to this unique business, which grew out of the opening up of the country by a railway line constructed not so long ago.

Counting upon the opportunity of sales which would arise when the promised improvements along the new line were actually accomplished, when the immense docks for the handling of hundreds of thousands of phosphate output at Boca Grande should materialize, an enterprising man planted from time to time islands at the mouth of coral creek, not far from the bridge, two miles in length, which spans Gasparilla sound.

The first experiment was with a mattress of twisted roots. This was 16 feet square with seeds of water-growing plants, palmetto and live oak scattered over the sand and broken shell utilized as top covering. Ropes were tied to the four corners, with large stones as weights. Frequent inspection revealed that sand and silt from the mainland, with the extraneous matter from the Gulf washed past the protecting piling of the long bridge, had materially aided the plan. The success of the first island was such that seven others were soon planted. Three of these are now more than fifty feet in diameter. Connecting them is a sandbar which promises to form the group into a large and compact body of land.

CITY LIFE

Is Not Bed of Roses—Farm People Get An Erroneous Idea.

Fred W. Leu, a Toledo newspaperman sent out by his paper, The News-Bee, to get the facts on the rural situation writes, midway in a thousand mile swing about the state, to the Agricultural Extension service of the Ohio State university:

"I understand your service has means of getting word to a great many country people in Ohio who are not reached by city papers. I think some one ought to get them word to this effect; that they underestimate their own well being by comparing their condition to an overdrawn and unjustified picture of average city life.

"I gather that nearly all Ohio country people assume they would be far better off in town than actually they would be if they went there and got along, as is not certain, even as well as the average.

"They picture as the average something like this: a little six room flat, no furnace to fire; eight hours' work, eight hours' play eight hours' sleep, and plenty of money for shows.

"I think there is as much need of telling farmers the actual average condition to be found in town as there is need to tell them of the possibilities of country life."

Pretty Poor Nourishment.

An old negro from the back country, who was upused to modern methods in medicine, was sent to a hospital in Charleston. One of the nurses put a thermometer into his mouth to take his temperature. Presently when one of the doctors made his rounds he asked:

"Well, Nathan, how do you feel?"

"I feel right 't'ble, boss."

"Have you had any nourishment?"

"Yassir."

"What did you have?"

The patient grinned. "A lady done glume a piece of glass to suck, boss."

Cause of Breathlessness.

Breathlessness is caused by insufficiency of the heart either from lack of proper exercise or from disease. The heart fails to pump the blood to the lungs fast enough and accordingly the CO2 accumulates and overstimulates the breathing center. This causes the sensation of inability to breathe fast enough.

WORST OF ROMAN RULERS

Emperor Commodus Was Strangled to Death by Gladiator Who Was Hired by His Mistress.

Commodus succeeded his father, Marcus Aurelius, as emperor of Rome. He was cruel and voluptuous. For his amusement he cut asunder persons, put out their eyes, mutilated their noses, ears, etc. His brutal character made him jealous of all those who had risen to prominence during his father's reign, and most of them were put out of the way.

Commodus came to a bad end. He was strangled by the gladiator Narcissus, who was hired to commit the deed by Marcia, the mistress of Commodus. On the news of his death, which was reported to be the consequence of apoplexy, the senate declared him an enemy of the state, ordered his statues to be broken to pieces, and his name to be erased from all public inscriptions.

Commodus was endowed with extraordinary strength, and often appeared in imitation of Hercules, dressed in a lion's skin and armed with a club. To display his strength and skill in arms he appeared publicly in the amphitheater, and is said to have fought in this way nearly 1,000 times. His opponents being armed with weapons of tin or lead, while he was incased with impenetrable armor, he had naturally an easy victory on every occasion.—Detroit News.

"You're a Brick."

When Tom says admiringly to Harry, "You're a brick!" I wonder if he knows how the saying originated?

In the golden days of Greece an ambassador once came from Epirus to Sparta, and was shown by the king over his capital. He was surprised to find no walls around the city.

"Sire," he exclaimed, "I have visited nearly all the towns in Greece, but I find no walls in their defense. Why is this?"

"Indeed," the king replied, "you cannot have looked carefully. Come with me tomorrow, and I will show you the walls of Sparta."

On the following morning the king led his guest out upon the plains where his army was drawn up in battle array, and pointing proudly to the valiant soldiers, he said: "There you behold the walls of Sparta—every man a brick!"

WHAT NEXT?

Builder—What's the trouble now? Aren't the men satisfied with the raise?

Foreman—The pay's all right for the time being, but the hodcarriers demand better working conditions, elevator service and a helper to carry the hod to and from the elevator.

Was on the Way.

Seeing the family doctor passing, Mrs. Fluddub called him in and inquired:

"Have you a kit of tools suitable for apoplexy?"

"Why, yes, I think so."

"Kindly be seated."

"But where is the case of apoplexy?"

"It will happen in a minute."

"I don't understand."

"As soon as my husband comes in from the garage I am going to ask him for a little extra money."

Changed Her Mark.

An elderly woman called to receive her pension. Being unable to write, she had always made her mark on the receipt—the usual X; but this time she made a circle instead.

"What's the matter, mother," asked the clerk. "Why don't you make the cross, as usual?"

"Well," replied the old lady, "I got married again yesterday, and changed my name."

Too Deep for Him.

Johnnie (pointing to minister): "Who's that, ma?"

"Hush, darling! That's the gentleman that married me."

Johnnie: "Then, if that's the gentleman that married you, what's pa doing in our house?"

Quick Work.

"I have a job for you, Mr. Graffik," said the editor to the new reporter. "Are you married?"

"No, sir."

"I thought not. Get married instantly, and let me have three columns by ten o'clock on how to manage a wife."

Overheard in the Kitchen.

Mistress—Who broke that china jug?

Maid—The cat, mum.

Mistress—What cat?

Maid—Why, ain't we got one?—London Daily News.

Origin of the Word Canada.

The word Canada is derived from the Huron-Iroquois Indian word, "Kanata," meaning a collection of huts. In Jacques Cartier's time the territory on the north side of the St. Lawrence river, from Hochelaga, now a suburb of Montreal, to the gulf, was apparently divided into three districts—Hochelaga, Canada and the Saguenay. It is here for the first time we meet the name now borne by the Dominion.

LESSON FOR DECEMBER 23

UNIVERSAL REIGN OF CHRIST

LESSON TEXT—Isa. 9:6, 7; 11:1-12. GOLDEN TEXT—"Ask me and I shall give thee the heathen for thine inheritance and the uttermost parts of the earth for thy possession."—Isa. 43:8. PRIMARY TOPIC—Christ, the Prince of Peace. JUNIOR TOPIC—God's Promise of Peace on Earth. INTERMEDIATE AND SENIOR TOPIC—Christ's Kingdom, the Hope of the World. YOUNG PEOPLE AND ADULT TOPIC—What Christ's Reign Means to the World.

The time is coming when Jesus Christ shall reign as King over the whole world.

1. The King (Isa. 9:6). 1. He is a Son of Man. "A child was born." The eternal Son became incorporated with the race in order to be its Savior and Lord. The King shall be of David's line, royal stock.

2. He is the Son of God. "A son is given." As the eternal Son of God He was not born, but given. This Son-given is the mighty God, the everlasting Father. Being such, He will take the government upon His shoulders, assume all authority. He is wonderful. The world will marvel at Him.

His kingdom will be different from all kingdoms because it will not be of this world. He is the all-wise Counsellor; therefore will make no mistakes in His conduct of the affairs of the kingdom. His kingdom will be a kingdom of peace. No hatred or fear will be known in His kingdom.

3. The King's Qualification (Isa. 11:2). The Holy Spirit shall rest upon Him in His sevenfold completeness. (1) "The spirit of the Lord"—that is a divine person proceeding from the Father and Son. (2) "The spirit of wisdom"—giving insight into all things, human and divine. (3) "Spirit of understanding"—that is the ability to see that which is of the highest and best. (4) "Spirit of counsel"—that is the ability to make plans. (5) "Spirit of might"—that is the ability to execute His plans. (6) "Spirit of knowledge"—that is the ability to perceive the will of God in all things. (7) "The fear of the Lord"—that is reverential and obedient fear.

4. The Character of the King (Isa. 11:3-5). Because of His divine anointing He shall be quick to understand goodness (v. 3). Because of this discernment the right will have recognition and the pretender to right shall be recognized and exposed. (2) He shall not judge after external appearances (v. 3). (3) Shall not decide upon hearsay (v. 3). Each case shall be decided upon the basis of absolute and perfect knowledge. (4) He shall defend and avenge the poor and meek of all the earth (v. 4). The meek shall inherit the earth when the Messiah reigns (Matt. 5:5). (5) Shall smite the earth (v. 4). Those whom He smites are the ungodly inhabitants who are then in federation against Christ. The head of this federation is the Anti-Christ (II Thess. 2:8). (6) He shall have a zeal for justice and truth (v. 5).

II. The Nature of His Kingdom (Isa. 11:6-10).

This is a picture of the glorious Golden Age of which poets have sung and for which the wise men of all ages have longed and looked. There will then be peace, not only between men, but between animals.

1. The Wolf Shall Dwell With the Lamb (v. 6). The word "dwell" suggests intimacy as if the lamb should receive the wolf into its home. The only place and circumstance at present in which the wolf and the lamb dwell together is when the lamb is inside of the wolf.

2. The Leopard Shall Lie Down With the Kid (v. 6).

3. The Calf, the Young Lion and the Fatling Shall Be Together (v. 6). They are so gentle and peaceful that a little child can lead them.

4. The Cow and the Bear Shall Feed Together (v. 7).

5. The Lion Shall Eat Straw (v. 7)—no longer preying upon other animals.

6. The Sucking Child Shall Play Upon the Hole of the Asp (v. 8).

7. All Nations Shall Gather Unto Him (v. 10). The earth shall then be full of the knowledge of the Lord as the waters cover the sea.

III. The Glorious Issue of the Kingdom (Isa. 11:10-12).

The glorious reign of Christ shall attract the Gentile nations. This is the real purpose of the kingdom, to attract the nations of the earth to Jesus Christ that they might be saved. The nations of the earth shall be brought to the place where they will recognize Christ because of the glory and perfection of His kingdom.

Our Gethsemane.

It is a great thing, when our Gethsemane hours come, when the cup of bitterness is presented to our lips, and when we pray that it may pass away to feel that it is not fate, that it is not necessity, but divine love for good ends, working upon us.—E. H. Chaplin

But One Book.

When Walter Scott came into the winter of his life, he said: "Bring me the Book." "What book?" he was asked. He answered, "There is but one Book."—The Wonderful Word.

Inventions Must Wait.

In his new book, "We and Our Work," Joseph French Johnson corrects thus a possibly current error about the inevitableness of the inventor:

"Many people imagine that a man like Edison could invent almost anything and anywhere.

"That is not true. If Mr. Edison had lived in 1800 he could not have made one single invention for which he is now justly famous.

"The science of physics was not advanced far enough in 1800 to enable anyone to invent the electric light.

"Much has been said about Marconi and his genius in inventing the 'wireless.'

"But back of this invention was the work, continued for many years, of English and German scientists, who showed how the waves of the air spread.

"Marconi himself has acknowledged his debt to these men."

Yes, even the inventor of the lately popular refrain, "Yes, We Have No Bananas," might have had to wait on the discovery of the banana plant.

Power From the Waves.

Professor Trischetto, an Italian, predicts that if his recently invented model is adopted it will make it practical to get power from the waves of the ocean.

The extraction of power from the ocean's movements—waves and tides—has long been the dream of inventors, as such a source of power is practically inexhaustible; but heretofore the models have either been failures or so expensive to operate as to be impractical.

Prof. Trischetto, however, claims that with his device he can generate 10 horse power from each square yard of ocean surface used.

An interesting sidelight on the Professor's invention is the fact that he has been refused aid by his own government and has announced his intention of offering his device to English capitalists when it is perfected.

Making Breaks.

Jiu-Jitsu Not Japanese.

Jiu-jitsu is supposed to come from Japan, but an art of self-defense virtually identical with it was taught in Europe during the seventeenth century. Its principles are expounded in a book by one Nicholas Peters, published at Amsterdam in 1674, which bears the long explanatory title: "The Art of Wrestling, and how one can protect oneself in all kinds of quarrels that may occur; how one can with agility and rapidity repel all unfair attacks, and meet one's adversary with science."

Why I Love America.

Now ask me why I love America! Such homes as mine are to be found all the country over and they are what make it a great country. Every boy scout has these loved ones that he prizes above all others. For these we would gladly give our lives, for all boy scouts are brave and unselfish. Being unselfish we are not only interested in the happiness of our loved ones, but we are determined to see that every other family is just as happy as our own.—Lieut. Belvin W. Maynard in Boys' Life.

It's All in the State of Mind.
If you think you are beaten, you are.
If you think you dare not, you don't.
If you'd like to win, but think you can't
It's almost a cinch you won't.
If you think you'll lose, you're lost,
For out in the world we find Success begins with a fellow's will.
It's all in the state of mind.

If you think you're outclassed, you are;
You've got to think high to rise,
You've got to hustle before
You can ever win a prize.
Life's battles don't always go
To the stronger or faster man;
But soon or late the man who wins
Is the one who thinks he can.

Why Taxes Are High.

The old lady had just paid her taxes
and was in anything but a happy mood
when she entered the car on her way home. When the conductor came for her fare she looked rather sourly at him.

"How much do you get a week, young man?" she asked him. The conductor told her.
"No wonder the taxes are high," she snapped, "when they pay you all that money for just running up those steps."
"They don't, mum," retorted the conductor; "we get half of it for running down."

Preferred the Candle.

Doris had a horror of going to sleep in the dark. Her mother, anxious to overcome this weakness, said, as she
was leaving her:

"Remember, darling, that an angel will still be with you when I take the candle away."

"Mummy," pleaded a small voice,
"I'd much rather you took the angel
and left the candle."

The Modern Joke.

An Englishman, writing of the decadent humor of the world today, has
this to say: "A joke, to amuse us, must be about nothing, or one of the jokes with which Adam tried to amuse
Eve, or for which Cain killed Abel."

LEGION BAND AT CONVENTION

Wichita (Kan.) Organization, Made
Up of Former Service Men,
Attends National Meeting.

The American Legion band of Wichita, Kan., one of the first musical organizations formed entirely from membership of the former service
men's association, represented the state at the national convention in San Francisco.

The band is composed of 45 musicians, and was awarded $1,500 from the Legion's state treasury in order to help pay the expense of taking the musicians to the convention city. The band was organized early in 1922 and went to New Orleans with 22 musicians. In competition with bands from all over the country, the organization received seventh place, despite the small instrumentation. The band has played many local engagements since
the 1922 convention, among these being a contract with the city of Wichita for municipal concerts, and for the International Wheat and Farm exposition. Lester Weatherwax, formerly director of the Three Hundred and Forty-first Field Artillery band and well known on lyceum and chautauqua circuits, directs the organization.

HEAVY CHARGES ON CASKET

Tag Calling for Two Hundred Forty-
Six Dollars on Box Containing Unclaimed Body.

The body of a World war veteran who died in a government hospital
3,000 miles from home recently arrived in Wilmington, N. C., with charges totalling $246 attached to the casket. No relatives could be found to meet the body, nor was there any one to pay the charges.

The body was that of Seaman E. I.
Vause, who succumbed in the Veterans' Bureau hospital in Palo Alto, Cal.
When no one appeared to take charge of the remains, J. L. Sprunt, commander of the local post of the American Legion, guaranteed the charges and the body was interred with full Legion ceremonies.

Protest was immediately filed with Veterans' Bureau authorities because of shipment of the remains without first ascertaining if relatives could provide sufficient means to pay the shipping charges. An explanation will be sought from those in charge, as a recent ruling provides payment of transportation charges to the place of burial.

CONCERT FUNDS GO TO NEEDY

Prominent Artists to Participate in Program Planned by Ohio
Legion Post.

A concert series in Columbus, O., at which some of the leading operatic artists in the nation are to appear, is sponsored by the American Legion county council.

Direction of the concerts is by Gen.
Chauncey B. Baker, department commander of the Legion in that state.
Madame Schumann-Heine, Mischa El-
man and Louis Gravier have been announced as three of the artists to appear. The concerts will be given in Memorial hall.

Funds from the events will be turned over to the Legion for the purpose of aiding needy ex-service men
and women.

Question Answered.

The old lady tourist in Florida was interestedly viewing a monster alligator and finally demanded of the attendant:

"You say you don't have to feed him very often. What kind of food does he like best?"

"Babies, ma'am," replied the man,
mildly.

"Why, mercy me; how horrible! I shouldn't think the law would allow you to feed him such things."

"It doesn't, ma'am," asserted the attendant. "We feed him fish, mostly,
but you asked what he liked best."—
American Legion Weekly.

Friend of Ex-Service Men.

A believer in the employment of ex-service men, Richard Hardy, president of the Dixie Portland Cement company
at Richard City, Tenn., is offering additional incentive for his employees to become members of the American Legion. Of the 61 former service men in the employ of the cement company, 58 are members of Marlon post
No. 62 of the Legion. The interest of
Mr. Hardy in the Legion post has raised its membership from 40 Legionnaires to more than 100 veterans.

Post Composed of Indians.

A post of the American Legion, composed entirely of Chippewa Indians who served in the World war, has been formed on a reservation at Reserve, Wis. National Commander Alvin Owsley was made a chieftain of the tribe, when he paid a visit to the Wisconsin convention of the Legion.
The Legion official was named "Beautiful Bird" in honor of the tribe's greatest orator. He is said to have been the first white man to be according this honor.

Legion Parkway 155 Feet Wide.

The widest cement thoroughfare in Brookton, Mass., and believed to be one of the widest in the nation, is known as the American Legion parkway. The parkway is 155 feet in width. It replaces a residential section and affords parking places for hundreds of automobiles. The thoroughfare was named for the Legion in honor of the service its members rendered during the World war.

FIND OLD GRAVES

Skeletons of Giant Warriors Unearthed in France.

Men Who Lived 25,000 Years Ago Believed to Have Died Fighting—Arrow Found in Head of One.

The discovery of 25,000-year-old graves containing well preserved skeletons of three prehistoric warriors,
has just been made at Solutre, a small village in the Cote d'Or department of France, widely known for its prehistoric remains.

In the last 60 years remarkable specimens of remains of the prehistoric period have been found at Solutre,
and, a short time ago the Lyons faculty of science decided to undertake a methodical and scientific search of the district on its own account. The first search proved rather disappointing, but the work was, nevertheless,
energetically carried on, and after 20
days of patient toil the scientists in charge of the expedition discovered
the skeletons of three men who lived in the latter Paleolithic or Aurignacien period, from 20,000 to 25,000 years ago.

The three skeletons were buried in the same position at a depth of three feet seven inches, five feet and six feet respectively, the heads facing the rising sun. Lying on their backs
the knees slightly raised, the hands clasped over the stomachs, the skeletons were resting on beds of ashes.
On either side of the head were two roughly hewn stones in the shape of a "cromlech," which, it is believed, indicate the exact position to be occupied by the body.

The skeletons evidently belonged to extremely powerful men, as the smallest of the three measured six feet two inches, while the tallest measured six feet nine inches. The shape of the skulls is remarkable. The forehead is rather low. The sockets of the eye are square and of large dimensions; the jawbone is prominent and the jaws are powerful and still contain well preserved teeth.

The skeletons are in a wonderful state of preservation. One skull is intact, while the trunk and limbs of another are in perfect condition. To judge from the teeth the skeletons are those of men from twenty-four to twenty-seven years old, who probably died while fighting, as the head of a stone arrow is lodged in the skull of one of them.—London Mail.

Confucius Great Sage.

The man whose memory has for 2,000 years aroused signal respect and honor in China was a sage, not a saint
nor a founder of a religious faith.
Confucius took the best of the various Chinese philosophies of his day and formed a cult of his own, using as a basis five cardinal virtues—righteousness, knowledge, sincerity, politeness
and discrimination of good. The wisdom of the Chinese Solomon so delighted the people that temples were built in his honor, his wise sayings were widely quoted and came to be taught in the Chinese schools.

Plant That Coughs.

Botanists have records of carnivorous plants which eat even mice; there are laughing and weeping flowers; and now, according to the Journal de la Sante, there is in the tropics a "coughing plant." Its fruit is like the common bean. It is easily aroused to anger, and what is more strange, has a horror of all kinds of dust. As soon as a few grains fall on the leaves the stomates or air cells, which are the breathing organs, fill with gas, puff out and throw off the dust with slight explosions like the cough of a child.

Your left foot is larger than your right, in 99 cases out of 100. Science explains it in many ways; but we accept the easiest one, which is that we are a world of left-footed loungers. We lean against posts and door jambs and we do most of our leaning on our left foot; consequently, through the years it has grown to support the weight that the lazy foot doesn't. The next time you buy shoes, have your left foot measured first.

Saves Bridegroom Expense.
The maidens of Denmark never receive a diamond engagement ring. A plain gold band is given them, which is worn on the third finger of the left hand. On the wedding day the bridegroom changes the ring to the third finger of the right hand, which is the marriage finger in that country.

AMAZING FEATS BY WOMAN

Hindu Female's Remarkable Show of Strength Due to Strange Power Taught Her by Fakirs.

There have recently come to light some extraordinary feats of strength by a Hindu woman, which should cause men of today to think twice before referring to women as the weaker sex.

The woman in question is Miss Tarabai, born some thirty years ago in a small village in Rajputana.

At the age of seven she was left an orphan and adopted by fakirs (holy men), with whom she remained for several years, disguised as a boy. It was by these men that she was initiated into the mysteries of breath control and the power of commanding her physical and mental forces.

Suspended between two chairs by her head and feet, Miss Tarabai has a large stone placed on her chest, while two men pound upon it with heavy sledge-hammers. But this did not affect her.

Miss Tarabai then laid down upon the ground and a cart laden with men and boys was drawn across her chest and arms. She was protected only by a pad, but she did not flinch.

She thinks nothing of raising from the ground a stone weighing 240 pounds by means of ropes tied to her hair.

It is the remarkable power of directing all her energies she possesses to any particular part of her body at will that enables her to lie for several minutes on the sharp points of five spears and to push backward a laden cart by pressing with her head against the sharp point of a spear fastened to its shafts.—Strand Magazine.

CAT AND DOG LOSE ENMITY

Felines in New York Tenement Districts No Longer Show Fear, and Canines Ignore Them.

Even nature seems to be changing in this age of knickered flappers and cake eaters.

Remember when the sight of the lit-tiest pug dog was a terror to the scampering cats? It isn't that way any more.

Close living has changed the game. When the houses were rods apart the cat took no chances on the strange dog next door, but in the courts and back yards of the Bronx and Manhattan cliff dwellers one can see sometimes a dozen cats sunning themselves of an afternoon and gazing with bored yellow eyes at the dogs of the neighbors.

The dogs seem more intent on their daily airing than in worrying about cats. And the cats don't seem to allow fear to interrupt their afternoon siestas.

There are not nearly so many teeth-scarred felines now as in the old days, when they ran from dogs. Puss, it would appear, has learned that ancient oriental proverb: "To escape danger, go ye into the very heart of it. There will ye find safety."—New York Sun and Globe.

Hotel Stenographer

BY ROE FULKERSON

"I wonder whether it has really been worth while to have motor cars" said the Hotel Stenographer meditatively.

"Why not," demanded the Detective. "Think how much quicker we get to places."

"That may be all right for a man's point of view, Kelly, but not from a girl's. Every girl thinks of everything as a help to, or a deterrent influence on, her big object in life, which is to hook herself permanently to a husband who has a life-grip on a good payroll.

"We need a lot of better roads in this country, Kelly, but that is not so much what interests the girls as the parking places. There are plenty of those and every girl has had to learn manners all over again.

"She has to know how to enter an automobile, instead of a drawing room; how to hold the wheel, while he lights a cigaret, instead of how to turn sheet music; how to help him put on a tie, instead of an overcoat.

"The old art of parlor flirtations has gone floofie. We have to learn the more strenuous art of automobile flirtations. If you go out for a ride with a guy and refuse to kiss him, he is as mad as if you had stopped a street car to ask the motorman the time of day.

"There is nothing for a poor girl to do but grin and bear it, for all the boys, who are matrimonial possibilities, have cars, and you simply have to try to learn about them before you go out with them and then govern yourself accordingly.

"So long long as they do not carry hip liquor and try to neck me, I am willing enough to drive around with them, but I have never got used to being hugged by strangers, unless dancing with them.

"But I can't help but wish we would soon get to flying, because a man in an airplane just has to have both hands on the steering apparatus."

NOT PROGRESSIVE

Small Republican Appendage in Congress Makes Much Trouble.

The so-called "Progressive Republicans" have disclosed themselves for the obstructionists that they are. They propose to tie up all committee assignments, all appointments and all legislation that is not to their liking. They are willing to join with the Democrats—that is, if the Democrats will have such an alliance—in order to humiliate the president and annoy the majority Republican leaders. A numerically insignificant minority sailing under Republican colors, they are seeking to impose their will upon the country and upon the larger number of conservative Republicans and Democrats.

So, these nondescripts, neither Republicans nor Democrats, radicals in principles, obstructionists by nature, out of sympathy with the great majority of the people of the United States, but holding a balance of power in the legislative councils of the country, are ready to make any sort of alliance against the overwhelming majority of the Republican party under whose banner they have secured their election to congress.

It is in organization that the test of attachment to party lies. By opposing the Republican organization of house and senate and the composition of committees, these obstructionists put themselves down as nothing better than renegades. The Democrats in congress whether house or senate, will maintain better their minority dignity and preserve their self respect by not accepting any committee chairmanship favors by their votes. If Senator Smith is correctly quoted as saying that he will not accept the chairmanship of the Interstate commerce committee from such a faction, he commends himself to the respect of every one.

No material effect on legislation can result from mere committee chairmanship. That Senator Cummins can influence a report from the interstate commerce committee any more as chairman than as an ordinary member is "Progressive" buncombe. A majority of a committee can report a bill, but that does not prevent the minority from reporting another or preventing the house or senate from calling for a bill that may have been rejected by every member of the committee. It is only because Senator Cummins does not train with the obstructionists that they are opposing his retention as chairman of a committee that he headed in the last congress.

It may amuse the Democrats to see their political enemies thus harassed by a nondescript party appendage, but there can be too much obstruction of legislation to please the country at large. There are important and pressing problems before congress. The Democrats can win favor from the people by helping congress to get down to work, even if they have to assist the Republicans with the organization.—Cincinnati Enquirer.

EXPRESSES HIS APPRECIATION

Coolidge Pleased With Henry Ford's Announcement.

SENDS MESSAGE TO DETROIT

Democratic Members of Senate Unite in Declaring That Ford's Act of Self-Elimination in Favor of the President Would "Amount to Nothing"—Third Party Boosters Claim West Won't Support Coolidge.

Washington, Dec. 20.—The white house was stirred up by Henry Ford's announcement that he has no intention of being a candidate against President Coolidge.

Ford's act of self-elimination was looked upon by everybody connected with the administration as a bit of extremely good news. The president was prompt in taking cognizance of it. Without waiting for an official confirmation of press dispatches containing Ford's notice of withdrawal, the president sent him a telegram of appreciation.

Supporters of the president in congress also were disposed to consider Ford's announcement as sure to be an asset of great value to Coolidge's candidacy. Democratic senators united, however, in declaring that it would "amount to nothing."

Senator Hiram Johnson, Coolidge's only avowed opponent, said it was not unexpected, as it has been known in Washington for a long time that Ford would be for Coolidge. Senator Lodge, Republican leader and also a Coolidge supporter, said it showed "how the tide is turning."

Senator Brandegee declared that it revealed Coolidge as "an all around, adaptable kind of man," adding that he never believed Ford could have been elected on a third party ticket, although his candidacy would have imperiled Republicans.

Senator King, Democrat, expressed the opinion that Ford had taken this step "to punish the Democrats for refusing to regard his candidacy seriously," adding that "Ford was piqued because he could not get either the Republican or Democratic nomination, and his action will not affect 10,000 votes either way."

Henry Ford in his statement said: "I would not consent to run on any ticket against Mr. Coolidge. The country feels perfectly safe with Mr. Coolidge, and there ought not to be any disturbance arising from a presidential contest. I think the people all feel that Mr. Coolidge means to do right. And when a man means to do right, it is usually quite easy for him to find the way."

AGAINST COOLIDGE

Third Party Men Say They Will Disregard Ford's Advice.

Detroit, Dec. 20.—Roy M. Harrop of Omaha, president of the national Ford club, which was organized at Detroit last week, asserted the third party men will hold their convention in some western city next month and nominate Ford, despite the automobile magnate's wishes. If Ford declines, some one else will be nominated.

"Henry Ford can never influence the farmers of the west to support Coolidge," Harrop said. "Coolidge 'broke his shovel' with the farmers when he told them in his annual message they would have to work out their own salvation. We will work out our own salvation, but we won't do it with Calvin Coolidge as president."

Rev. William A. Dawes, president of the Ford-for-President club, said: "Disregarding the different reasons assigned for Henry Ford deciding to back Calvin Coolidge for re-election, there is a 'higher and loftier' reason for his getting out of the race—that reason is Mrs. Henry Ford. She was opposed from the first to her husband entering the political arena."

Woman Acquitted.

Chicago, Dec. 20.—A criminal court jury here found Mrs. Lucille Kavanaugh not guilty of murdering her husband, Patrick H. Kavanaugh, prominent Chicago club man. The jury deliberated 10 minutes. Kavanaugh was shot last summer, while struggling with his wife for possession of a pistol.

Six Bodies Recovered.

Houston, Tex., Dec. 20.—Five persons are still missing following the fire which destroyed the Capitol hotel here. That number registered at the hotel have been unaccounted for since the fire. Six bodies have been recovered.

HUGHES' CHARGE DENIED

Negotiations For American Recognition of Russia Ended For Present.

Moscow, Dec. 20.—Secretary Hughes' statement with regard to American recognition of the soviet Russian republic ended, for the present, all possibility of negotiations to that end, Foreign Minister Tchitcherine said. "A Russian-American agreement would be a great step toward settlement of world conditions, but Mr. Hughes is still using his influence against it," said Tchitcherine. "Mr. Hughes' demands that Moscow must cease to be a center of propaganda, but New York is a center of propaganda also. The soviet government never gave and never will give any support to any revolutionary parties in America. The principle of our relations with America is mutual non-interference in internal affairs," he said.

Calles Hopes to Muster an Army of 5,000 Men.

Mexico City, Dec. 20.—The Mexican war office denies reports that "fierce fighting has been going on for two days, with large casualties, at San Marcos."

The war office reiterates that San Marcos was evacuated by the rebels fully pursued by federal cavalry. Some small field equipment was taken and a few men.

General Plutarco Elias Calles, who withdrew his presidential candidacy to go into the field with the Obregon troops, is at present in the vicinity of Tampico, where he hopes to muster an army of at least 5,000 to hold the famous oil fields at all costs.

The entire membership of the Mexican federal army when the revolution broke out was 42,000 in all branches. According to reports, more than 15,000 of that number have swung over to the rebel banners. Feeling this loss severely, the Obregon government is recruiting new forces.

The first real battle of the revolution is now scheduled to be staged in the state of Jalisco, where General Amaro, one of the few military leaders remaining loyal to the Obregon regime, is awaiting the oncoming forces of General Angel Flores from the west, and at the same time holding at bay the rebels under General Enrique Estrada, who recently took to the hills. The Estrada troops are thus cut off from all communication with the rebels under General Sanchez, who is in possession of the city and port of Vera Cruz, where the supporters of De la Huerta have set up a provisional government.

World's Biggest Submarine.

Berlin, Dec. 20.—The biggest and most powerful submarine yet devised has been designed by the famous German naval architect, Professor Oswald Flamm. The professor claims that his boat, with a tonnage of 7,067, has a radius of 23,000 miles. It is 103 feet long with a 49-foot beam, and is completely stable when submerged. The decks and sides and the conning tower are protected by steel armor five inches thick without producing the slightest danger of list.

CHARGES CAUSE AN UPROAR

Postoffice Appointments Sold, Senators Allege.

SOUTHERN STATES INVOLVED

Charges Indignantly Denied by Republican Defenders of the Administration, Who Demand That Proofs Be Submitted to the Senate—Allegations Made by Members From the South.

Washington, Dec. 20.—Sensational charges that postoffice appointments have been sold to the highest bidder by persons representing themselves as agents of the administration caused an uproar in an executive session of the senate.

The charges, made by senators from southern states, who declared "upon their honor" that nominations now before the senate for confirmation had been paid for, were indignantly denied by Republican defenders of the administration.

Those making the charges were challenged by Republican leaders to submit their proofs to the senate. It was stated that such proofs would be forthcoming. As a result, all nominations from the southern states were laid aside after a three-hour wrangle, in which partisan feeling was at a high pitch. Nominations from many other states were confirmed.

Specifically the charges were directed against recent appointments sent from the white house to postmasterships in South Carolina and Virginia. When these nominations were reached in the executive session a senator from one of the southern states addressed his colleagues with the direct announcement that "practically every one of the postoffice appointments in the southern states was sold." He was followed by another southern senator, who charged that nominations on the Virginia list were likewise bartered and paid for.

Other senators took up the charges, with the result that what was intended by Republican leaders to be a perfunctory session to confirm appointments was quickly transformed into a place of pandemonium, as southern senators repeated their charges and Republicans angrily denied them.

This is not the first time that South Carolina appointments have figured in charges of the use of money by persons supposed to have influence with the appointing power. At the last session Senator Dial of that state blocked confirmation of the nomination of Joseph W. Tolbert to be United States marshal, upon the charge that federal positions in South Carolina had been sold.

MORE BALLOTS TAKEN

Senate Suspends Voting Until After the Holiday Recess.

Washington, Dec. 20.—Two more ballots were taken in the senate for chairman of the interstate commerce committee, but without result. Voting was then suspended until the senate reconvenes on Thursday, Jan. 3, after the holiday recess. Senator Smith, Democrat, led on each of the ballots, with 36 votes each time; Cummins got 32 on the first and 34 on the second, while Couzens got 13 each time.

Resentment of Democratic senators over the failure of the Republican majority to force an election of chairman of the commerce committee manifested itself after these ballots were taken. Senator Reed of Missouri started it by declaring the performance was "child's play to the last degree." He contended that the chairmanship was unimportant.

Senator Wheeler (Dem., Mont.) demanded to know why, if the chairmanship amounted to nothing, the senate was unwilling to give it to LaFollette, "who is rightfully entitled to it," or to a progressive like Couzens or Howell, or even to Smith.

Miners' Wage Scale.

Washington, Dec. 20.—Secretary of Labor Davis has within the last few days conferred with representatives of the bituminous operators and the miners. Each side is getting ready for the conference, which will follow the convention of the United Mine Workers in Indianapolis on Jan. 22. The government authorities appear to be of the impression that if the operators offer to continue the present wage scale there will be no difficulty about reaching an agreement. The miners' responsible leaders, it is understood, have about decided not to demand an increase in the present wage scale. On the other hand they will, it is asserted, take a firm stand against any decrease in wages.

Bonus Legislation to Be Considered at Later Date.

PARTY POLICY MAY BE ADOPTED

Republican Members of House to Hold Caucus With Regard to the Bonus, in View of the Administration's Stand Against It—Ways and Means Committee Takes Up the Mellon Tax Reduction Bill.

Washington, Dec. 20.—The house ways and means committee decided after a sharp fight to proceed with consideration of the administrative features of the Mellon tax reduction bill.

After this part of its work is completed, which is expected to take until the middle of January, the committee will take up "the question of the disposition" of the soldier bonus legislation. In the meantime Republican members of the house are expected to hold a caucus to adopt a party policy with regard to the bonus. The committee desires caucus legislation because the strong stand the administration takes against the soldier bill makes it a delicate party matter.

The decision to put the administrative features of the tax measure ahead of the bonus was announced officially by Chairman Green. After this plan of procedure the committee immediately took up the tax bill. The committee will continue daily sessions until Saturday, when adjournment will be taken over the Christmas holidays. Chairman Green will propose the appointment of a subcommittee to make during the holidays a survey of the remainder of the administrative features which have not been completed by Saturday.

Friends of the soldier bonus made strong efforts to have that measure given precedence over the tax bill. Representative Frear, progressive of Wisconsin, made a formal motion that the bonus be acted upon at once. The motion lost, 15 to 8.

By similar ballots, motions by Representatives Oldfield of Arkansas, Caplow of New York and Dickinson of Missouri, Democrats, providing that the bonus should be acted upon not later than Jan. 4, Jan. 10, Jan. 15 and Feb. 10, were rejected. The committee also voted down a suggestion that the administrative sections of the tax bill and the bonus be considered concurrently. The motion to take up the tax bill first, which prevailed, was offered by Representative Hawley (Rep., Ore.).

INQUIRY SOUGHT

Bucketshop Bankruptcy Proceedings Rouses Congressman.

Washington, Dec. 20.—The congressional spotlight was turned on the New York bucketshop ring when Representative Schall, the blind congressman from Minnesota, introduced a resolution for an investigation of the Jones & Baker bucketshop bankruptcy proceedings.

The Minnesota representative's action was prompted by information that has reached him of the wholesale fleecing of investors throughout the country, and particularly in the middle west, through the operations of the bucketeers and their subsequent attempt to cover up through the bankruptcy court. The representative had obtained a list of Minnesotans included among the Jones & Baker clients. It is primarily for their protection and at the same time for the protection of the public generally that he is demanding a congressional probe.

Wet Bills in Senate.

Washington, Dec. 20.—Two bills to revise the Volstead act were introduced in the senate by Senator Edge, Republican of New Jersey. The first would raise the permissible alcoholic content of beverages from one-half of 1 per cent to 3 per cent. The second would relieve restrictions against the issuance of liquor prescriptions by physicians.

Gives Birth to Quadruplets.

London, Dec. 20.—Statisticians were astounded at the announcement that Mrs. Owen, wife of a Llanfairfechan baker, had given birth to quadruplets, three girls and a boy. This is the third time within a month that such an event has been recorded, once previously in England and once in the United States.

HERESY TRIALS UNLIKELY

Episcopal Bishops Would Avoid Forcing the Issue, It Is Said.

New York, Dec. 20.—With the modernists still militant, the belief has become prevalent here that the bishops of the Protestant Episcopal church will do anything reasonable to avoid forcing an issue of heresy either in the case of Dr. Leighton Parks of St. Bartholomew's church or Rev. Lee W. Heaton of Fort Worth, Tex.

Rev. Dr. William M. Gilbert, rector of St. Paul's church in Yonkers and a close friend of Bishop Manning, said: "Dr. Parks did not deny the virgin birth, although he clearly indicated that he did not believe in it. What Dr. Parks did do was discuss why some persons believed it and why others did not, and then he defended the disbelievers." Dr. Gilbert then went on to point out that Bishop Manning had already established a precedent in his treatment of Dr. Percy Stickney Grant's case.

Dr. Ernest M. Stires, rector of St. Thomas' church, also said in reference to the Rev. Mr. Heaton that he did not believe the Texas clergyman would be brought to trial.

Discovers New Poison Gas.

London, Dec. 20.—F. N. Pickett, who has just completed the breaking up of 500,000 tons of ammunition in the British war area in France, announces the discovery of a new devastating poison gas. He says that it is a lethal gas, with the slaying property of mustard gas, which is effective for several days. He has declined to submit it to the war office until he discovers an antidote.

JUNKERS BUMPED

Schacht Is Appointed President of the Reichsbank.

Berlin, Dec. 20.—The appointment of Hjalmar Schacht, present commissioner of currency, as president of the reichsbank, which was practically assured through his formal nomination before the German senate, marks a big setback to the plans of the junkers and nationalists to impose a financial dictatorship on the government. The candidate of nationalists was Karl Helfferich, famous war-time finance minister and called "father of the inflation policy," from which Germany is now trying to extricate itself. Helfferich proposed a directum for the reichsbank, but the senate rejected the plan. Schacht, who was president of the Darmstadter national bank, is an authority on currency questions and is a Democrat.

Lost Half Million.

Chicago, Dec. 20.—Ten years of association with Leo Koretz, missing promoter of the Panama "oil bubble," cost Henry A. Kline nearly half a million dollars, he testified at a bankruptcy hearing against the missing man. Kline was off of a committee of six sent to Panama by Koretz to investigate his supposed oil land holdings and told by him to spend their own money freely as they would be reimbursed on their return. They found only alligator swamps and no record that Koretz ever owned anything there, they reported on their return home.

RAMSHACKLE

By FLORENCE MELLISH

(©, 1923, Western Newspaper Union.)

I WAS beginning to be sorry that I had consented to become one of Miss Bankhead's corps of welfare workers in South Wingate.

"Your work will be chiefly among the boys," she had said, "and in line of uplift."

Well, I started a boys' club. I rented a comfortable basement room opening on Battery street. I made the room homelike with Turkey red curtains and bright pictures. There were tables for games; one of my married brothers gave me a phonograph that he was tired of having about the house, and I filled a bookcase with attractive books.

But the boys would only come once or twice, and then they spent their time scuffling and upsetting the tables. They handled the books roughly, crossing out the Olive J. Ramsdell. I had written on the fly leaves in a clear, firm hand and scrawling "Ramshackle" underneath.

But I knew the way to a man's heart, and the boy is futher to the man. I invited the boys to a spread in the clubroom. With infinite pains I made sandwiches of six kinds.

"Aw! chuck the bread and butter. We want some cake, that kind with the yellow frosting. Pass the cake, Ramshackle."

"Sandwiches come first," I answered, firmly. "Then we'll be ready for cake." "Aw! we're ready now," cried one.

Then there was an uproar. They began pelting one another with the sandwiches and I got a smart blow on my left ear. I was not quite sure that Tom Durgin aimed the missile at me, but I knew very well that he was glad he hit me.

As soon the boys were out of ammunition they raided the cake table. They snatched all the cakes, overturning the lemonade pitcher. Some one turned off the lights and they all rushed whooping for the door.

"Good-by, Ramshackle!" they were shouting as the last one shut the door with a bang. I turned on the lights and scrubbed my ear and stiffened myself. All my brothers had called me homely. They had criticised the size of my ears and the shape of my nose, but not one of them had ever said I had a weak chin.

"Well," I said, "I'll let in some fresh air before I clean up this mess."

I turned the knob, but the door was fast. Those boys had taken the key and locked me in. I was a prisoner and probably for the night. Should I attract the attention of some passer-by by pounding on the window pane? Not for money, I knew that Terry and Tom and others of the crowd would be watching somewhere, and I had no desire to make them happy in that way.

Back of the club room there was a small place used for storage. I had not wished the boys to forage there, and the key was in my pocket. I went in and investigated. In one corner there was a rickety ladder leading to a loft. I knew there was a laundry above that opened on Main street. If I could manage to get up that ladder and into that laundry before everybody was gone, I would walk out serenely by that Main street door.

I gained the loft and, brushing off the cobwebs as well as I could with my handkerchief, I grouped successfully for the laundry door. The manager was still there.

"Excuse me," I said as nonchalantly as I could, considering that I was still gasping for breath and there were several cobwebs left. "I've lost my key. Will you permit me to go out by your door?"

"Certainly," he answered.

You may be sure I took pains to let the boys see me walking in a matter of course way about the adjacent streets, and I had the satisfaction of meeting seven of them. To my easy, friendly "Good evening, boys. It's a great night to be out," one of them answered, "That's all right, Miss Ramsdell."

Miss Ramsdell! My spirits rose. And I want to say right here that not one of those boys ever called me Ramshackle again.

I had a wakeful night trying to invent some new scheme for the uplift of my charges. In the morning the ring-leader was at the banquet hall before me armed with a broom.

"I'm going to help you clean up," he announced.

"That's right good of you, Terry."

"Say," he said, leaning on his broom, "some of these fellers got pretty fresh last night."

I did not remind Terry that he had been the chief in the barbarities, but answered easily, "They're rather young. Perhaps they haven't learned table manners yet."

"That's it. They're an igrunt lot. But I'll learn 'em, and when we have another spread they'll behave."

Another spread! I shivered at the thought. But we had another and the boys did behave. Don't imagine it was all smooth seas after that. Still, with Terry's efficient backing, I soon had a thriving boys' club, and every boy was my staunch friend.

"Say," Terry confided in me once, when we were working together, "that night I saw you walking up Main street after our spread, Tom Durgin was along and he says: 'Why, there's Ramshackle.' I says to him, 'No, 'tain't neither. That's Miss Ramsdell.'"

Was Sure of It.

Diner—I haven't eaten much better steaks than this one.

Walter (through force of habit)—Not here, sir; not here.

Special Light to Test Colors.
An electric color-testing instrument is designed for textiles, wall papers, coloring materials, etc., and with a special arc light applies the fading power of the sun for 20 hours. Forty samples may be tested at once, each being partly covered, so that the faded colors can be directly compared with the originals.

Needles of Ancient Days.
The needles that have come down to us from ancient Egypt are very coarse, but it is certain that finer needles must have been made to make the delicate embroidery produced by those people. Judging by the descriptions of embroidery in Homer, the Greeks also must have had very fine needles.

Genius.
The book reviewer of Everybody's Magazine drops, somewhat unaccountably, into these rhapsodical reflections on genius: "It is the queerest thing in the world, the most unexplainable. It burns now in the mind of a tax-collector's son in ancient Rome, now in a tent-maker of Persia, now in a livery keeper's son in London, now in a mixer of pills in a dreary Norwegian town. Like the wind, it bloweth whither it listeth. It is a fire that may not be quenched, either by failure or success. And whether we know it or not, its rays light the paths of all of us."

Self-Sacrificing Mamma.
There is a little boy in our neighborhood whose father has been dead for several years. Often we speak of him in a pitying manner on account of his loss. Yesterday my youngest rushed into the house exclaiming: "Have you heard the news? Jamie's mamma has gone and married a papa for him."—Chicago Tribune.

Colors Being Used in Evening Frocks

Orchid With Yellow Chic Novelty Feature Now in Forefront.

We do not think of practical values when we select the evening wardrobe, observes a fashion writer. That is why, perhaps, modistes are relegating their taffetas, satins and crepe knits to the rear of their shops and filling the windows with those elusive affairs which seem to be cloudy associations of ribbon, lace and the sheerest materials.

Bouffant effects add to this appearance. The opaque quality of ruffled material merely emphasizes the soft transparency of the single fold which forms the frock itself. We may combine our trimmings of ruffled ribbon, fluted lace, plaited self-material, or any of the numerous bits which designers have accomplished so cleverly this season. But we should keep in mind the fact that daintiness has its widest appeal in evening frocks.

Embroidered figures on a silk background are to be found among the collection of pretty frocks for the younger girl. Unusual color combinations have been achieved. One of the novelty effects, which is finding considerable popularity just now, is the use of orchid with yellow.

The yellow is used in an underslip of fine georgette and lace, while the orchid is placed in slender panels over the yellow foundation.

Lace has not stepped from the limelight, as we might have thought earlier. It was used in such abundance on the frocks for afternoon wear that we scarcely expected to see its popularity increase as the days advanced. Perhaps because the vogue for dyed lace came to the rescue, the vivid and unusual colorings in which the lace was offered gave the fad its new lease on life.

However, we are finding it made up into the most attractive dance frocks. Almond green lace, with an apricot georgette girdle, proves a fascinating combination. Melon pink, touched artfully with rosettes of old blue chiffon or gray, lighted with the iridescence of silver, is being seen at the smart dances.

White stormed the sports world and was accepted. For the golf links, the country club or the shore we gave it first place. But we are rather surprised to see evidences of its popularity in the evening frocks when color is being used so widely.

An exquisite dance frock of white chiffon was the center of attraction in a room that fairly bloomed with the color effects of other gowns. Of particular simplicity were the lines of this white frock, showing infinite skirts of chiffon, each dropping its pointed hemline a little below the other.

Straight Lines, With Flare From Knee Down

This type of gown is popular for afternoon wear. It is constructed of black satin, relieved by a touch of brilliantly colored embroidery.

Long Shoulder Lines Displayed in New Furs

In the fur fashions of the winter is reflected the tendency to exploit the same long shoulder line so apparent in costumes of other materials. Even when such material is used and there is perhaps a cleverly inserted godet plait in front or at the side, or when the attached piece at the bottom of coat or wrap is unmistakably circular, the effect is always of extreme slowness, an effect accentuated by the close little helmet or cloche hat which has been carried over from the modes of summer and still remains well in the lead of millinery fashions.

A Neat Closing.

A torn placket hole looks most untidy and can quite well be prevented in the following way: Sew a hook and eye at the very bottom of it on the wrong side, then hook it together and pinch the hook down tight. This keeps the placket hole quite neat, and it is almost impossible to tear it.

What Courtesy Overlooks.

One way to make sure that you maintain amiable relations with your immediate neighbors is not to permit yourself to take advantage of their close proximity to you. There are always little things that you can learn about your neighbors that it is the part of courtesy to overlook.

First National Bank.

The regular annual meeting of the stockholders of the First National bank of Circleville, Ohio, for the purpose of electing a Board of Directors for the ensuing year, and such other business as may properly come before it, will be held at the office of the First National bank, of Circleville, Ohio, on Tuesday, January 8, 1924, at two o'clock P. When to Smile.

As long as things go well with some folks, they are chipper as a basket of chips; but the minute they feel a pin prick of hard luck, their faces are as long as a hammer handle. Men with the real stuff in them smile the biggest when the tug at their hearts is hardest.

HOPPE WINS TITLE

Cochran, California Billiard Star, Makes Strong Finish.

Chicago, Dec. 20.—Willie Hoppe won the world's title at 18.2 balkline billiards in the play-off with Welker Cochran, California star. The play was for 1,500 points, in blocks of 500. Cochran scored 1,161 against Hoppe's 1,500. The Californian, in a spurt of sensational billiards, cut down the champion's lead in big chunks in the late stages of the play. Cochran amassed a total of 725 points against Hoppe's 500 in last night's block. Hoppe's average runs were 44-434 and Cochran's 34-534. Hoppe's third turn was the most profitable of the match for him. He made 206 and finally missed on a twice across the table shot on the top rail.

TOOL HOUSE

To be Built by City If State Joins in Constructing Wall.

The city council met in regular session Wednesday evening, December 19, with President Felix R. Caldwell, presiding and all members present.

Mr. Jeffries, as chairman of the committee on department of public service reported that the committee has investigated the matter of the surface drainage on Huston street between Court and Pickaway streets, and learn that the sewer and catch basins at the northeast corner of Court and Huston streets were constructed by the Norfolk and Western Railway company and that this committee finds now that the same are not large enough to take care of the water at this point and recommended that the railway company be compelled to correct this trouble. On motion of Mr. Hedges this report was accepted.

Mr. Jeffries, as chairman of the committee consisting of all the members of council to whom had been referred the matter of constructing a fire wall between the proposed city tool house in the rear of the fire department building and the garage by the State of Ohio in the rear of the armory, made the following report: "That the firm of Stribling & Lum has submitted a pencil drawing of the tool house at an estimated cost of $4250. This does not include any of the materials on the ground nor in the present building. The State of Ohio now has under consideration the building of a partnership wall on the east side of said proposed tool house, so that this wall and the salvage from the old building will reduce the cost of the new tool house in the sum of $1000.

"Your committee therefore recommends that the tool house be constructed according to the pencil drawing providing the State of Ohio will join with the city in the construction of the dividing wall. On motion of Mr. Barnes this report was accepted.

George M. Fitzpatrick, mayor-elect, submitted a bond in the sum of $1000 with himself as principal and George H. Pontius, A. M. Wiegand and Charles F. Weaver, as sureties and on motion this bond was approved.

PLANT ISLANDS IN FLORIDA

Increase in Price of Land Along the West Coast Responsible for Unique Business.

For some time island planting as an industry has been practiced in Florida, where island homes are much sought. The increase in the price of land along the west coast led to this unique business, which grew out of the opening up of the country by a railway line constructed not so long ago.

Counting upon the opportunity of sales which would arise when the promised improvements along the new line were actually accomplished, when the immense docks for the handling of hundreds of thousands of phosphate output at Boca Grande should materialize, an enterprising man planted from time to time islands at the mouth of coral creek, not far from the bridge, two miles in length, which spans Gasparilla sound.

The first experiment was with a mattress of twisted roots. This was 16 feet square with seeds of water-growing plants, palmetto and live oak scattered over the sand and broken shell utilized as top covering. Ropes were tied to the four corners, with large stones as weights. Frequent inspection revealed that sand and silt from the mainland, with the extraneous matter from the Gulf washed past the protecting pillow of the long bridge, had materially aided the plan. The success of the first island was such that seven others were soon planted. Three of these are now more than fifty feet in diameter. Connecting them is a sandbar which promises to form the group into a large and compact body of land.

CITY LIFE

Is Not Bed of Roses—Farm People Get An Erroneous Idea.

Fred W. Leu, a Toledo newspaperman sent out by his paper, The News-Bee, to get the facts on the rural situation writes, midway in a thousand mile swing about the state, to the Agricultural Extension service of the Ohio State university:

"I understand your service has means of getting word to a great many country people in Ohio who are not reached by city papers. I think some one ought to get them word to this effect; that they underestimate their own well being by comparing their condition to an overdrawn and unjustified picture of average city life.

"I gather that nearly all Ohio country people assume they would be far better off in town than actually they would be if they went there and got along, as is not certain, even as well as the average.

"They picture as the average something like this: a little six room flat, no furnace to fire; eight hours' work, eight hours' play eight hours' sleep, and plenty of money for shows.

"I think there is as much need of telling farmers the actual average condition to be found in town as there is need to tell them of the possibilities of country life."

Pretty Poor Nourishment.

An old negro from the back country, who was unused to modern methods in medicine, was sent to a hospital in Charleston. One of the nurses put a thermometer into his mouth to take his temperature. Presently when one of the doctors made his rounds he asked:

"Well, Nathan, how do you feel?"
"I feel right to'ble, boss."
"Have you had any nourishment?"
"Yassir."
"What did you have?"
The patient grinned. "A lady done gimme a piece of glass to suck, boss."

AMUSEMENTS

"The Eagle's Feather," a Metro picturization of Katharine Newlin Burt's famous story of the same name which appeared in Cosmopolitan magazine some time ago is the feature attraction at the Met theater.

Those who have read the story will remember the thrilling cattle stampede, the great fight between John Trent and his accusers, the delightful banquet scene, the forest fire and many other incidents which made "The Eagle's Feather" one of the outstanding short stories of the year. All of these have been incorporated with uncaring fidelity and thrilling realism in the screen version.

A fine cast, headed by James Kirkwood and Mary Alden, serve to make "The Eagle's Feather" a great entertainment. There are Elinor Fair, Lester Cuneo, William Orlamond, John Elliott, Charles McHugh and George Siegmann. "The Eagle's Feather" was adapted by Winifred Dunn and directed by Edward Sloman.

DRINK WATER

Most People Take Entirely Too Little for Their Own Good.

The man who weighs 200 pounds carries in the fluids and tissues of his body nearly 18 gallons of water.

Anybody who wants to can figure their own water content. Just take three-quarters of your total weight and divide by 8.45, the number of pounds in a gallon. The human body is three-fourths water.

Drink, then, all the water you can, advise nutrition workers, adding that recent experiments disprove the idea that to drink water with meals is unhealthful. The investigations showed further that most people drink far too little water for their body's good.

The amount of water needed daily varies with the age and activity of the individual and with the volume of other liquids taken, but in general six or eight glasses a day is not too much for an adult, continues Lelia Ogle, nutrition extension specialist at the Ohio State university. The best times to drink water, she adds are on rising, in the middle of the morning, in the middle of the afternoon and before retiring at night. A glass of water with each meal is now considered a good thing.

It is explained that water contributes to bodily well-being by softening food in the digestive tract, by keeping in solution waste materials of the body, by entering chemically into the composition of body tissues and fluids and by helping regulate the body temperature. Too little water in the diet is said, further, to reduce healthful activities of the kidneys and of glands secreting digestive juices.

NO MANDATE FROM PEOPLE.
When the people elect a congress like this one they must endure it with as much patience as they can muster until its successor has been chosen. There was no recognizable mandate from the people to this congress, for it is so divided between the major parties, with blocks thrown in to upset the balance of power, that it can promote no policy except one of negation. The British parliament is in much the same impasse of futility and impotence as the result of the recent election and the British people alone can remedy the fault. Neither congress nor parliament can be blamed for the negative results of elections. In this country not even our constitution is open to criticism, for the constitution did not establish and has never recognized party government.

Whether we have but two parties or half a dozen parties, legislative deadlocks may occasionally occur because of the failure of the people to show a decided preference for one party or another. But our system handicaps us more than the British people in finding a quick solution for legislative bodies that tie themselves into hard knots. The one quick solution is a new election as soon as there is reason to expect a sufficient shifting and hardening of public sentiment to enable one of the major parties to secure a working majority and control. Another parliamentary election in Great Britain may come within six months, perhaps three months. The British might easily get a new house capable of governing before midsummer.

But here is the situation in America: A new congress cannot be chosen until next November and the members then elected cannot take their seats in regular session for a whole year thereafter, or until December, 1925, fully two years from the present date. So absurd is this archaic state of affairs that at least congress should promptly provide by suitable enactment for the convening of a new congress as soon as practicable after its election.—Springfield Republican.

Youthful Greed.
The little boy with the rather grubby face was crying lustily in the street when a kind old woman, who happened to be passing, stopped and asked him the cause of his grief.
"Boo-hoo! 'Cause I've lost a penny. Mother gave it to me and I can't find it anywhere."
"Ah, never mind," said the kind old soul, as she took her purse out of her pocket. "Here's another penny for you."
The child instantly stopped his howling and took the penny in his grimy hand. The old woman passed on, but she had not gone far when she heard howls louder than ever coming from the boy. Retracing her steps she asked the reason of his renewed lamentations.
"I'm crying 'cause—'cause if I hadn't lost that first penny I'd have two now."

TARARE IS CITY OF MUSLINS

Little French Village Which Was Lost in the Mountains Now Center of Thriving Industry.

Tarare, in east central France, is the city of muslims. It was formerly a little village lost in the Beaufort mountains, but now it is the center of a thriving industry. For more than half a century it has conducted a world-wide trade in the finest muslins, the secret of making which originally came from India; and as a result of that trade the village has become famous. Each year, in honor of Simonet, the founder of the mills, the people celebrate the muslin festival, which calls forth the liveliest holiday spirit in all of the inhabitants.

Last year the festival lasted three days, during which the little city was truly a city of muslin. Everywhere houses, balconies and facades all but disappeared under the light and colorful decorations, which were always pretty and sometimes ingenious. Above the middle of the streets were suspended domes from which long streamers of muslin were draped in graceful curves to the second-floor windows of the houses; reseda, cream, ivory and rose predominate—gay and beautiful colors like garlands of flowers hanging from immense corals. Vehicles of all kinds were adorned with fancy muslins and gave the scene a brilliancy such as bright flowers give to the festivals of southern California.

Cause of Breathlessness.
Breathlessness is caused by insufficiency of the heart either from lack of proper exercise or from disease. The heart fails to pump the blood to the lungs fast enough and accordingly the CO2 accumulates and overstimulates the breathing center. This causes the sensation of inability to breathe fast enough.

WORST OF ROMAN RULERS

Emperor Commodus Was Strangled to Death by Gladiator Who Was Hired by His Mistress.

Commodus succeeded his father, Marcus Aurelius, as emperor of Rome. He was cruel and voluptuous. For his amusement he cut asunder persons, put out their eyes, mutilated their noses, ears, etc. His brutal character made him jealous of all those who had risen to prominence during his father's reign, and most of them were put out of the way.

Commodus came to a bad end. He was strangled by the gladiator Narcissus, who was hired to commit the deed by Marcia, the mistress of Commodus. On the news of his death, which was reported to be the consequence of apoplexy, the senate declared him an enemy of the state, ordered his statues to be broken to pieces, and his name to be erased from all public inscriptions.

Commodus was endowed with extraordinary strength, and often appeared in imitation of Hercules, dressed in a lion's skin and armed with a club. To display his strength and skill in arms he appeared publicly in the amphitheater, and is said to have fought in this way nearly 1,000 times. His opponents being armed with weapons of tin or lead, while he was incased with impenetrable armor, he had naturally an easy victory on every occasion.—Detroit News.

"You're a Brick."

When Tom says admiringly to Harry, "You're a brick!" I wonder if he knows how the saying originated?

In the golden days of Greece an ambassador once came from Epirus to Sparta, and was shown by the king over his capital. He was surprised to find no walls around the city.

"Sire," he exclaimed, "I have visited nearly all the towns in Greece, but I find no walls in their defense. Why is this?"

On the following morning the king led his guest out upon the plains where his army was drawn up in battle array, and pointing proudly to the valiant soldiers, he said: "There you behold the walls of Sparta—every man a brick!"

WHAT NEXT?

Builder—What's the trouble now? Aren't the men satisfied with the raise?

Foreman—The pay's all right for the time being, but the hodcarriers demand better working conditions, elevator service and a helper to carry the hod to and from the elevator.

Was on the Way.

Seeing the family doctor passing, Mrs. Flubdub called him in and inquired:

"Have you a kit of tools suitable for apoplexy?"

"Why, yes, I think so."

"Kindly be seated."

"But where is the case of apoplexy?"

"It will happen in a minute."

"I don't understand."

"As soon as my husband comes in from the garage I am going to ask him for a little extra money."

Changed Her Mark.

An elderly woman called to receive her pension. Being unable to write, she had always made her mark on the receipt—the usual X; but this time she made a circle instead.

"What's the matter, mother," asked the clerk. "Why don't you make the cross, as usual?"

"Well," replied the old lady, "I got married again yesterday, and changed my name."

Too Deep for Him.

Johnnie (pointing to minister):

"Who's that, ma?"

"Hush, darling! That's the gentleman that married me."

Johnnie: "Then, if that's the gentleman that married you, what's pa doing in our house?"

Quick Work.

"I have a job for you, Mr. Graffik," said the editor to the new reporter.

"Are you married?"

"No, sir."

"I thought not. Get married instantly, and let me have three columns by ten o'clock on how to manage a wife."

Overheard in the Kitchen.
Mistress—Who broke that china jug?
Maid—The cat, mum.
Mistress—What cat?
Maid—Why, ain't we got one?—London Daily News.

Origin of the Word Canada.

The word Canada is derived from the Huron-Iroquois Indian word, "Kanata," meaning a collection of huts. In Jacques Cartier's time the territory on the north side of the St. Lawrence river, from Hochelaga, now a suburb of Montreal, to the gulf, was apparently divided into three districts—Hochelaga, Canada and the Saguenay. It is here for the first time we meet the name now borne by the Dominion.

LESSON FOR DECEMBER 23

UNIVERSAL REIGN OF CHRIST

LESSON TEXT—Isa. 9:6, 7; 11:1-12.
GOLDEN TEXT—"Ask me and I shall give thee the heathen for thine inheritance and the uttermost parts of the earth for thy possession."—Ps. 2:8.

PRIMARY TOPIC—Christ, the Prince of Peace.

JUNIOR TOPIC—God's Promise of Peace on Earth.

INTERMEDIATE AND SENIOR TOPIC—Christ's Kingdom, the Hope of the World.

YOUNG PEOPLE AND ADULT TOPIC—What Christ's Reign Means to the World.

The time is coming when Jesus Christ shall reign as King over the whole world.

I. The King (Isa. 9:6).

1. He is a Son of Man. "A child was born." The eternal Son became incorporated with the race in order to be its Savior and Lord. The King shall be of David's line, royal stock.

2. He is the Son of God. "A son is given." As the eternal Son of God He was not born, but given. This Son given is the mighty God, the everlasting Father. Being such, He will take the government upon His shoulders, assume all authority. He is wonderful. The world will marvel at Him. His kingdom will be different from all kingdoms because it will not be of this world. He is the all-wise Counselor; therefore will make no mistakes in His conduct of the affairs of the kingdom. His kingdom will be a kingdom of peace. No hatred or fear will be known in His kingdom.

3. The King's Qualification (Isa. 11:2). The Holy Spirit shall rest upon Him in His sevenfold completeness. (1) "The spirit of the Lord"—that is a divine person proceeding from the Father and Son. (2) "The spirit of wisdom"—giving insight into all things, human and divine. (3) "Spirit of understanding"—that is the ability to see that which is of the highest and best. (4) "Spirit of counsel"—that is the ability to make plans. (5) "Spirit of might"—that is the ability to execute His plans. (6) "Spirit of knowledge"—that is the ability to perceive the will of God in all things. (7) "The fear of the Lord"—that is reverential and obedient fear.

4. The Character of the King (Isa. 11:3-5). Because of His divine anointing He shall be quick to understand goodness (v. 3). Because of this discernment the right will have recognition and the pretender to right shall be recognized and exposed. (2) He shall not judge after external appearances (v. 3). (3) Shall not decide upon hearsay (v. 3). Each case shall be decided upon the basis of absolute and perfect knowledge. (4) He shall defend and avenge the poor and meek of all the earth (v. 4). The meek shall inherit the earth when the Messiah reigns (Matt. 5:5). (5) Shall smite the earth (v. 4). Those whom He smites are the ungodly inhabitants who are then in federation against Christ. The head of this federation is the Anti-Christ (II Thess. 2:8). (6) He shall have a zeal for justice and truth (v. 5).

II. The Nature of His Kingdom (Isa. 11:6-10).

This is a picture of the glorious Golden Age of which poets have sung and for which the wise men of all ages have longed and looked. There will then be peace, not only between men, but between animals.

1. The Wolf Shall Dwell With the Lamb (v. 6). The word "dwell" suggests intimacy as if the lamb should receive the wolf into its home. The only place and circumstance at present in which the wolf and the lamb dwell together is when the lamb is inside of the wolf.

2. The Leopard Shall Lie Down With the Kid (v. 6).

3. The Calf, the Young Lion and the Fatling Shall Be Together (v. 6). They are so gentle and peaceful that a little child can lead them.

4. The Cow and the Bear Shall Feed Together (v. 7).

5. The Lion Shall Eat Straw (v. 7)—no longer preying upon other animals.

6. The Sucking Child Shall Play Upon the Hole of the Asp (v. 8).

7. All Nations Shall Gather Unto Him (v. 10). The earth shall then be full of the knowledge of the Lord as the waters cover the sea.

III. The Glorious Issue of the Kingdom (Isa. 11:10-12).

The glorious reign of Christ shall attract the Gentile nations. This is the real purpose of the kingdom, to attract the nations of the earth to Jesus Christ that they might be saved. The nations of the earth shall be brought to the place where they will recognize Christ because of the glory and perfection of His kingdom.

Our Gethsemane.

It is a great thing, when our Gethsemane hours come, when the cup of bitterness is presented to our lips, and when we pray that it may pass away to feel that it is not fate, that it is not necessity, but divine love for good ends, working upon us.—E. H. Chaplin

But One Book.

When Walter Scott came into the winter of his life, he said: "Bring me the Book." "What book?" he was asked. He answered, "There is but one Book."—The Wonderful Word.

Inventions Must Wait.

In his new book, "We and Our Work," Joseph French Johnson corrects thus a possibly current error about the inevitableness of the inventor:

"Many people imagine that a man like Edison could invent almost anything and anywhere.

"That is not true. If Mr. Edison had lived in 1800 he could not have made one single invention for which he is now justly famous.

"The science of physics was not advanced far enough in 1800 to enable anyone to invent the electric light.

"Much has been said about Marconi and his genius in inventing the 'wireless.'

"But back of this invention was the work, continued for many years, of English and German scientists, who showed how the waves of the air spread.

"Marconi himself has acknowledged his debt to these men."

Yes, even the inventor of the lately popular refrain, "Yes, We Have No Bananas," might have had to wait on the discovery of the banana plant.

Power From the Waves.

Professor Trischetto, an Italian, predicts that if his recently invented model is adopted it will make it practical to get power from the waves of the ocean.

The extraction of power from the ocean's movements—waves and tides—has long been the dream of inventors, as such a source of power is practically inexhaustible; but heretofore the models have either been failures or so expensive to operate as to be impractical.

Prof. Trischetto, however, claims that with his device he can generate 10 horse power from each square yard of ocean surface used.

An interesting sidelight on the Professor's invention is the fact that he has been refused aid by his own government and has announced his intention of offering his device to English capitalists when it is perfected.

Making Breaks.

The Guest—Your table is very prettily decorated. But what's the idea of the miniature forest fire on the cake?

Miss Oldsmith—You goof. Those are my birthday candles.—Washington Star.

Jiu-Jitsu Not Japanese.

Jiu-jitsu is supposed to come from Japan, but an art of self-defense virtually identical with it was taught in Europe during the seventeenth century. Its principles are expounded in a book by one Nicholas Peters, published at Amsterdam in 1674, which bears the long explanatory title: "The Art of Wrestling, and how one can protect oneself in all kinds of quarrels that may occur; how one can with agility and rapidity repel all unfair attacks, and meet one's adversary with science."

Why I Love America.

Now ask me why I love America! Such homes as mine are to be found all the country over and they are what make it a great country. Every boy scout has these loved ones that he prizes above all others. For these we would gladly give our lives, for all boys scouts are brave and unselfish. Being unselfish we are not only interested in the happiness of our loved ones, but we are determined to see that every other family is just as happy as our own.—Lieut. Belvin W. Maynard in Boys' Life.

It's All in the State of Mind.
If you think you are beaten, you are.
If you think you dare not, you don't.
If you'd like to win, but think you can't
It's almost a cinch you won't.
If you think you'll lose, you're lost,
For out in the world we find Success begins with a fellow's will,
It's all in the state of mind.
If you think you're outclassed, you are;
You've got to think high to rise,
You've got to hustle before
You can ever win a prize.
Life's battles don't always go
To the stronger or faster man;
But soon or late the man who wins
Is the one who thinks he can.

Why Taxes Are High.

The old lady had just paid her taxes
and was in anything but a happy mood
when she entered the car on her way home. When the conductor came for her fare she looked rather sourly at him.
"How much do you get a week, young man?" she asked him. The conductor told her.
"No wonder the taxes are high," she snapped, "when they pay you all that money for just running up those steps."
"They don't, mum," retorted the conductor; "we get half of it for running down."

Preferred the Candle.

Doris had a horror of going to sleep
in the dark. Her mother, anxious to overcome this weakness, said, as she
was leaving her:
"Remember, darling, that an angel
will still be with you when I take the candle away."
"Mummy," pleaded a small voice,
"I'd much rather you took the angel
and left the candle."

The Modern Joke.

An Englishman, writing of the decadent humor of the world today, has
this to say: "A joke, to amuse us,
must be about nothing, or one of the
jokes with which Adam tried to amuse
Eve, or for which Cain killed Abel."

LEGION BAND AT CONVENTION

Wichita (Kan.) Organization, Made
Up of Former Service Men,
Attends National Meeting.

The American Legion band of Wichita, Kan., one of the first musical organizations formed entirely from membership of the former service
men's association, represented the
state at the national convention in San Francisco.

The band is composed of 45 musicians, and was awarded $1,500 from
the Legion's state treasury in order to help pay the expense of taking the musicians to the convention city. The band was organized early in 1922 and went to New Orleans with 22 musicians. In competition with bands from all over the country, the organization received seventh place, despite the small instrumentation. The band has played many local engagements since
the 1922 convention, among these being a contract with the city of Wichita
for municipal concerts, and for the International Wheat and Farm exposition. Lester Weatherwax, formerly director of the Three Hundred and Forty-first Field Artillery band and
well known on lyceum and chautauqua
circuits, directs the organization.

HEAVY CHARGES ON CASKET

Tag Calling for Two Hundred Forty-
Six Dollars on Box Containing
Unclaimed Body.

The body of a World war veteran
who died in a government hospital
3,000 miles from home recently arrived in Wilmington, N. C., with charges totalling $246 attached to the casket. No relatives could be found to meet the body, nor was there any one to pay the charges.

The body was that of Seaman E. I.
Vause, who succumbed in the Veterans' Bureau hospital in Palo Alto, Cal.
When no one appeared to take charge of the remains, J. L. Sprunt,
commander of the local post of the American Legion, guaranteed the charges and the body was interred with full Legion ceremonies.

Protest was immediately filed with Veterans' Bureau authorities because
of shipment of the remains without first ascertaining if relatives could provide sufficient means to pay the shipping charges. An explanation will be sought from those in charge, as a recent ruling provides payment of transportation charges to the place of burial.

CONCERT FUNDS GO TO NEEDY

Prominent Artists to Participate in Program Planned by Ohio
Legion Post.

A concert series in Columbus, O., at which some of the leading operatic artists in the nation are to appear, is sponsored by the American Legion
county council.

Direction of the concerts is by Gen.
Chauncey B. Baker, department commander of the Legion in that state.
Madame Schumann-Heine, Mischa El-
man and Louis Gravier have been announced as three of the artists to appear. The concerts will be given in Memorial hall.

Funds from the events will be turned over to the Legion for the purpose of aiding needy ex-service men
and women.

Question Answered.

The old lady tourist in Florida was interestedly viewing a monster alligator and finally demanded of the attendant:

"You say you don't have to feed him very often. What kind of food does he like best?"

"Babies, ma'am," replied the man,
mildly.

"Why, mercy me; how horrible! I shouldn't think the law would allow
you to feed him such things."

"It doesn't, ma'am," asserted the attendant. "We feed him fish, mostly,
but you asked what he liked best."—
American Legion Weekly.

Friend of Ex-Service Men.

A believer in the employment of ex-
service men, Richard Hardy, president
of the Dixie Portland Cement company
at Richard City, Tenn., is offering additional incentive for his employees to become members of the American Legion. Of the 61 former service men in the employ of the cement company, 58 are members of Marion post
No. 62 of the Legion. The interest of
Mr. Hardy in the Legion post has raised its membership from 40 Legionnaires to more than 100 veterans.

Post Composed of Indians.

A post of the American Legion, composed entirely of Chippewa Indians
who served in the World war, has been formed on a reservation at Reserve, Wis. National Commander Alvin Owsley was made a chieftain of
the tribe, when he paid a visit to the Wisconsin convention of the Legion.
The Legion official was named "Beautiful Bird" in honor of the tribe's greatest orator. He is said to have been the first white man to be according this honor.

Legion Parkway 155 Feet Wide.

The widest cement thoroughfare in Brockton, Mass., and believed to be one of the widest in the nation, is known as the American Legion parkway. The parkway is 155 feet in width. It replaces a residential section and affords parking places for hundreds of automobiles. The thoroughfare was named for the Legion in honor of the service its members rendered during the World war.

FIND OLD GRAVES

Skeletons of Giant Warriors Un-
earthed in France.

Men Who Lived 25,000 Years Ago Believed to Have Died Fighting—Arrow Found in Head of One.

The discovery of 25,000-year-old
graves containing well preserved skeletons of three prehistoric warriors,
has just been made at Solutre, a small village in the Cote d'Or department of France, widely known for its prehistoric remains.

In the last 60 years remarkable specimens of remains of the prehistoric period have been found at Solutre,
and, a short time ago the Lyons faculty of science decided to undertake a methodical and scientific search of the district on its own account. The first search proved rather disappointing, but the work was, nevertheless,
energetically carried on, and after 20
days of patient toil the scientists in charge of the expedition discovered
the skeletons of three men who lived in the latter Paleolithic or Aurignacien
period, from 20,000 to 25,000 years ago.

The three skeletons were buried in the same position at a depth of
three feet seven inches, five feet and
six feet respectively, the heads facing
the rising sun. Lying on their backs
the knees slightly raised, the hands
clasped over the stomachs, the skeletons were resting on beds of ashes.
On either side of the head were two roughly hewn stones in the shape of a "cromlach," which, it is believed,
indicate the exact position to be occupied by the body.

The skeletons evidently belonged
to extremely powerful men, as the smallest of the three measured six feet two inches, while the tallest measured six feet nine inches. The shape of the skulls is remarkable. The forehead is rather low. The sockets
of the eye are square and of large dimensions; the jawbone is prominent
and the jaws are powerful and still contain well preserved teeth.

The skeletons are in a wonderful
state of preservation. One skull is intact, while the trunk and limbs of another are in perfect condition. To judge from the teeth the skeletons
are those of men from twenty-four to twenty-seven years old, who probably died while fighting, as the head of a stone arrow is lodged in the skull of
one of them.—London Mail.

Confucius Great Sage.

The man whose memory has for 2,000 years aroused signal respect and
honor in China was a sage, not a saint
nor a founder of a religious faith.
Confucius took the best of the various Chinese philosophies of his day and formed a cult of his own, using as a basis five cardinal virtues—righteousness, knowledge, sincerity, politeness
and discrimination of good. The wisdom of the Chinese Solomon so delighted the people that temples were built in his honor, his wise sayings
were widely quoted and came to be taught in the Chinese schools.

Plant That Coughs.

Botanists have records of carnivorous plants which eat even mice; there
are laughing and weeping flowers; and now, according to the Journal de la Sante, there is in the tropics a "coughing plant." Its fruit is like the common bean. It is easily aroused to anger, and what is more strange, has a
horror of all kinds of dust. As soon as
a few grains fall on the leaves the stomates or air cells, which are the
breathing organs, fill with gas, puff
out and throw off the dust with slight explosions like the cough of a child.

Your left foot is larger than your right, in 99 cases out of 100. Science explains it in many ways; but we accept the easiest one, which is that we are a world of left-footed loungers. We lean against posts and door jambs and we do most of our leaning on our left foot; consequently, through the years it has grown to support the weight that the lazy foot doesn't. The next time you buy shoes, have your left foot measured first.

Saves Bridegroom Expense.
The maidens of Denmark never receive a diamond engagement ring. A plain gold band is given them, which is worn on the third finger of the left hand. On the wedding day the bridegroom changes the ring to the third finger of the right hand, which is the marriage finger in that country.

AMAZING FEATS BY WOMAN

Hindu Female's Remarkable Show of Strength Due to Strange Power Taught Her by Fakirs.

There have recently come to light some extraordinary feats of strength by a Hindu woman, which should cause men of today to think twice before referring to women as the weaker sex.

The woman in question is Miss Tarabai, born some thirty years ago in a small village in Rajputana.

At the age of seven she was left an orphan and adopted by fakirs (holy men), with whom she remained for several years, disguised as a boy. It was by these men that she was initiated into the mysteries of breath control and the power of commanding her physical and mental forces.

Suspended between two chairs by her head and feet, Miss Tarabai has a large stone placed on her chest, while two men pound upon it with heavy sledge-hammers. But this did not affect her.

Miss Tarabai then laid down upon the ground and a cart laden with men and boys was drawn across her chest and arms. She was protected only by a pad, but she did not flinch.

She thinks nothing of raising from the ground a stone weighing 240 pounds by means of ropes tied to her hair.

It is the remarkable power of directing all her energies she possesses to any particular part of her body at will that enables her to lie for several minutes on the sharp points of five spears and to push backward a laden cart by pressing with her head against the sharp point of a spear fastened to its shafts.—Strand Magazine.

CAT AND DOG LOSE ENMITY

Felines in New York Tenement Districts No Longer Show Fear, and Canines Ignore Them.

Even nature seems to be changing in this age of knickered flappers and cake eaters.

Remember when the sight of the lit-tlest pug dog was a terror to the scampering cats? It isn't that way any more.

Close living has changed the game. When the houses were rods apart the cat took no chances on the strange dog next door, but in the courts and back yards of the Bronx and Manhattan cliff dwellers one can see sometimes a dozen cats sunning themselves of an afternoon and gazing with bored yellow eyes at the dogs of the neighbors.

The dogs seem more intent on their daily alrning than in worrying about cats. And the cats don't seem to allow fear to interrupt their afternoon siestas.

There are not nearly so many teeth-scarred felines now as in the old days, when they ran from dogs. Puss, it would appear, has learned that ancient oriental proverb: "To escape danger, go ye into the very heart of it. There will ye find safety."—New York Sun and Globe.

Hotel Stenographer

BY ROE FULKERSON

"I wonder whether it has really been worth while to have motor cars" said the Hotel Stenographer meditatively.

"Why not—demanded the Detective. "Think how much quicker we get to places."

"That may be all right for a man's point of view, Kelly, but not from a girl's. Every girl thinks of everything as a help to, or a deterrent influence on, her big object in life, which is to hook herself permanently to a husband who has a life-grip on a good payroll.

"We need a lot of better roads in this country, Kelly, but that is not so much what interests the girls as the parking places. There are plenty of those and every girl has had to learn manners all over again.

"She has to know how to enter an automobile, instead of a drawing room; how to hold the wheel, while he lights a cigaret, instead of how to turn sheet music; how to help him put on a tire, instead of an overcoat.

"The old art of parlor flirtations has gone flooie. We have to learn the more strenuous art of automobile flirtations. If you go out for a ride with a guy and refuse to kiss him, he is as mad as if you had stopped a street car to ask the motorman the time of day.

"There is nothing for a poor girl to do but grin and bear it, for all the boys, who are matrimonial possibilities, have cars, and you simply have to try to learn about them before you go out with them and then govern yourself accordingly.

"So long long as they do not carry hip liquor and try to neck me, I am willing enough to drive around with them, but I have never got used to being hugged by strangers, unless dancing with them.

"But I can't help but wish we would soon get to flying, because a man in an airplane just has to have both hands on the steering apparatus."

NOT PROGRESSIVE

Small Republican Appendage in Congress Makes Much Trouble.

The so-called "Progressive Republicans" have disclosed themselves for the obstructionists that they are. They propose to tie up all committee assignments, all appointments and all legislation that is not to their liking. They are willing to join with the Democrats—that is, if the Democrats will have such an alliance—in order to humiliate the president and annoy the majority Republican leaders. A numerically insignificant minority sailing under Republican colors, they are seeking to impose their will upon the country and upon the larger number of conservative Republicans and Democrats.

So, these nondescripts, neither Republicans nor Democrats, radicals in principles, obstructionists by nature, out of sympathy with the great majority of the people of the United States, but holding a balance of power in the legislative councils of the country, are ready to make any sort of alliance against the overwhelming majority of the Republican party under whose banner they have secured their election to congress.

It is in organization that the test of attachment to party lies. By opposing the Republican organization of house and senate and the composition of committees, these obstructionists put themselves down as nothing better than renegades. The Democrats in congress whether house or senate, will maintain better their minority dignity and preserve their self respect by not accepting any committee chairmanship favors by their votes. If Senator Smith is correctly quoted as saying that he will not accept the chairmanship of the Interstate commerce committee from such a faction, he commends himself to the respect of every one.

No material effect on legislation can result from mere committee chairmanship. That Senator Cummins can influence a report from the interstate commerce committee any more as chairman than as an ordinary member is "Progressive" buncombe. A majority of a committee can report a bill, but that does not prevent the minority from reporting another or preventing the house or senate from calling for a bill that may have been rejected by every member of the committee. It is only because Senator Cummins does not train with the obstructionists that they are opposing his retention as chairman of a committee that he headed in the last congress.

It may amuse the Democrats to see their political enemies thus harassed by a nondescript party appendage, but there can be too much obstruction of legislation to please the country at large. There are important and pressing problems before congress. The Democrats can win favor from the people by helping congress to get down to work, even if they have to assist the Republicans with the organization.—Cincinnati Enquirer.

Elude Coast Patrol.

Highland, N. J., Dec. 20.—Rum runners engaged in a game of hide and seek with coast guard cutters patrolling the liquor fleet anchored off shore, and many landed their illicit cargoes successfully during the night. At least two speed boats, however, ran into the hands of coast guards stationed ashore. The cutters Gresham and Sena pursued several, but made no captures, according to word brought ashore.
